M'Carthy Denounces Zwicker

Storm Curves North, Misses Florida Coast

Possibility Grows Hurricane May Not Strike U.S. Mainland

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 8 (AP)—Hurricane Edna's threat to the Florida coast vanished today as the 115-mile-an-hour tropical storm curved to the north and the possibility grew it might not strike anywhere on the U. S. mainland.

In an advisory at 5 p.m., Miami's chief storm forecaster, Grady Norton, placed the storm center 280 miles east of West Palm Beach, Fla., and said the hurricane now is moving straight north.

During the next 12 hours, Norton said, the storm may continue its curve to a northeasterly course that would carry it away from the mainland and out over open Atlantic waters.

Nassau Escapes

The hurricane, which for 36 hours pursued a west-northwest course toward Miami, began shifting toward the north late last night. Early this afternoon, Norton said there now is a possibility that "nobody will get hit."

Nassau, the British colonial capital of 20,000 population which had boarded up in full expectation of getting the hurricane's highest winds, escaped with a 30-mile breeze as the storm turned.

Nowhere in the Bahamas, a string of islands stretching from near the South Florida coast to Haiti on the Carribean Sea, was any serious damage reported.

Edna "Erratic Lady"

Last night, as stormwise South Floridians began to board up for the storm, Edna began a slight turn toward the north. By 11 a.m. today, she was traveling a north-northwest course and the South Florida alert was lifted.

Norton emphasized, however, that hurricane movements are more difficult to determine when they are moving slowly. Edna, he said, "is an erratic lady and we'll have to continue a close watch on her."

At noon today, the SS Fairland, a 6,065-ton freighter out of Mobile, radioed the Miami Weather Bureau she was in the "eye" of the hurricane and had clocked the winds around the eye at 120 m.p.h.

State Dept. Plans Speedy Arms Aid For Arab Nations

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—The State Department disclosed today it plans immediate measures to strengthen the military position of Arab countries in the Middle East, rather than await settlement of bitter Arab-Israeli disputes.

Department Press Officer Lincoln White told his news conference, in response to queries, that "careful consideration" is being given the possibility of granting military aid to "various Middle East states."

He declined to name the states, except to say they included Egypt as well as Israel, and he reported no final decision has been reached yet in any case.

U. S. Chided Israel

At the same time White reported the United States last week chided Israel for appearing to rely on "organized retaliation" in its border disputes with its Arab neighbors. The American suggestion was that painstaking step-by-step measures be substituted for such actions which, it said, only increased tensions.

White said the State Department's official view was most recently expressed in a letter from Thruston B. Morton, assistant secretary for congressional affairs, to Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY). Celler had posed a dozen questions regarding America's policy on Israeli-Egyptian tensions.

Russia Major Threat

Morton wrote that the State Department finds no evidence "that any Arab state is desirous or capable of sustaining an aggressive move against Israel."

He said the major threat was from "Soviet imperialism," putting it this way:

"The threat posed by Soviet imperialism is of such a character that we feel obliged to take immediate measures to foster indigenous defensive strength, and not to delay such steps pending a definite settlement of intra-area problems."

Conference Has Note Of Urgency

DENVER, Sept. 8 (AP)—President Eisenhower and other National Security Council members will meet here in extraordinary session Sunday to receive Secretary of State Dulles' report on the new eight-nation pact against aggression in Southeast Asia.

In announcing the top-level conference plans today, the summer White House said the meeting was not called for any broader discussion dealing with new problems created in the Far East generally by Russia and Red China.

But the decision to have other Security Council members travel from Washington to meet with the President and Dulles appeared to have some note of urgency which could steer the discussions in the direction of those problems.

Reds Downed U. S. Plane

They include the shooting down last weekend of a U. S. Navy patrol plane by Soviet-type jet fighters, and the Red China threat to Chinese Nationalist held Formosa and other Nationalist islands off the mainland.

Dulles joined in Manila today with representatives of seven other nations in signing a pact aimed at blocking Communist or any other aggression in Southeast Asia.

The Security Council is the government's top policy unit on hot and cold war planning.

In response to questions, presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen that so far as he knows the Sunday session will deal exclusively with the Southeast Asia pact.

Ike Replies To Knowland

Announcement of plans for the conference came after Eisenhower had sent a reply—reportedly a rejection—to a demand by Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) that the United States slash diplomatic ties with Russia.

Hagerty declined to make the letter public, but stood by his statement of Sunday night that so far as he knows Eisenhower still is opposed to severing relations with the Soviet Union.

Knowland's Sunday telegram to the President, calling for an immediate break in relations, was touched off by a Defense Department announcement that two MIG15s had shot down a Navy patrol plane off Siberia over the Sea of Japan.

China Nationalist Planes And Ships Silence Red Guns

TAIPEH, Formosa, Thursday, Sept. 9 (AP)—Nationalist planes and warships in the heaviest attack of the week on the Red China coast yesterday silenced Communist guns which had been pounding strategic Quemoy Island, the Defense Ministry said.

Thunderjets furnished by the United States went into combat for the first time.

Tension mounted in the Far East as the pounding of Communist Amoy, and its satellite bases on nearby islands, roared into the third straight day. Amoy is but five miles from Quemoy, which lies 120 miles across Formosa Straight from Formosa.

Hong Kong Nervous

Hong Kong, the nervous British colony on Red China's doorstep, feared the U.S. 7th Fleet would become involved. All U.S. fighting ships in Hong Kong harbor had disappeared.

British owners warned their ships to stay out of the area after a freighter was machinegunned in Amoy harbor Tuesday and asked for royal navy protection.

One Taipeh newspaper said the Nationalists were raising the question of whether to call off the offensive-defensive operations in this "vest pocket war" or make a possible landing on Amoy.

Dulles To Visit Chiang

Secretary of States Dulles is due in from Manila today for a short visit and a talk with President Chiang Kai-shek. Chiang is expected to review the Quemoy situation and bring up a possible mutual defense pact with the United States.

A Defense Ministry communique described the air and sea blows yesterday as the heaviest yet against mainland and island points from which the Reds have been shelling Quemoy.

Shells, bombs and bullets were rained on junks, artillery positions, barracks and other military installations with "excellent" results, the ministry said.

Rio Hotel 'Ousts' Ava; Actress Has "Nervous Crisis"

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Sept. 8 (AP)—The management of a fashionable Rio de Janeiro hotel said it asked film actress Ava Gardner to leave after a boisterous reception on her arrival here early today. Her press agent said she had suffered a "nervous crisis."

The big outburst came at the airport from a crowd of Brazilian fans. What happened from there on was less clear.

The hotel management claimed—and Miss Gardner's press secretary David Hanna denied—that she got into the spirit of the welcome by throwing things and shouting in her hotel room. The management of the Gloria Hote, where the incident occurred, conceded damage to the room was insignificant. The actress checked out and went to the Copacabana Palace Hotel.

Dentist Who Killed Wife's Boy Friend Wins Freedom

IONIA, Mich., Sept. 8 (AP)—Dr. Kenneth B. Small, acquitted of slaying a man he accused of stealing his pretty wife's love, finally won freedom today after more than three months in jail and Michigan's Hospital for the Criminally Insane.

The 30-year-old independently wealthy Mrs. Small, who stood by the 31-year-old Detroit dentist at his trial, was absent today as he won release from Ionia State Hospital.

Circuit Judge Morris . Davis ruled Dr. Small sane and ordered him freed from the hospital where he had been confined several weeks.

His release climaxed a legal battle against confinement in a mental institution.

Michigan law makes commitment to a mental hospital mandatory under acquittals won by reason of insanity. It was on grounds of temporary insanity that Dr. Small won acquittal on a first degree murder charge July 17 in the May 25 slaying of Jules Lack, 45-year-old New York playboy-industrialist.

Dr. Small surprised his wife, Edith, and the New Yorker in a holiday rendezvous. Two pistol shots in the chest killed Lack.

As he left, the dentist told newsmen:

"I can only say that I am happy and that I would appreciate it very much if people would let me go back to my way of life with no more pictures and no more stories. I cannot discuss my personal problems until I have had a chance to solve them in my own way and in my own time."

U.S. And Seven Other Nations Sign Asia Pact

Stop Light Against Aggression By Reds Flashed By Treaty

MANILA, Thursday, Sept. 9 (AP)—Eight nations yesterday signed a security pact which flashes a red stop light against Communist aggression in Asia.

Temporarily named the Southeast Asia Collective Security Defense Treaty, it is aimed at repelling any aggression against the soil of the United States, Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, Pakistan and The Philippines.

While they are not signatories, the treaty extends its protection to the Indochina states of Laos, Cambodia and South Viet Nam. These three, like Thailand, fear they may be the next targets of aggression.

Formosa, ROK Excluded

Excluded are Nationalist Formosa and South Korea—the two nations with the largest anti-Communists armies in Asia—as well as Japan.

Prime Minister Pyun Yung Tai of South Korea immediately showed his displeasure. He belittled the effects of the treaty and told a news conference in Seoul that South Korea was "the only true ally of the United States."

Foreign Minister Katsuo Okazaki of Japan told the Diet, however, he thought Japan "should back it (the treaty) up, at least spiritually."

There was no official comment from Nationalist China, which was preparing for a visit from U. S. Secretary of State Dulles. Dulles was hurrying from the Manila conference to Formosa for a conference with Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek.

No Automatic Rescue

The treaty falls short of the demands of such nations as The Philippines that any attack on any member nation would automatically bring all other members to the rescue. It provides instead that each member in event of aggression will "act to meet the common danger in accordance with its constitutional processes."

In other words, the United States could not go to war under the treaty until war had been declared constitutionally by Congress.

Russia Rejects Protest By U.S.

MOSCOW, Sept. 8 (AP)—Russia tonight rejected an American protest on the shooting down last Saturday of a U.S. Navy Neptune bomber off Siberia by Soviet jets. The Russians repeated their claim the big plane violated Soviet air space.

The Soviet note, delivered by messenger to the American Embassy here, repeated the charge the bomber opened fire first on the Soviet fighters well inside Soviet territorial waters off Siberia.

The U.S. Navy contended the patrol bomber was well outside Russian territorial waters when two Russian jets shot it down 44 miles off the Siberian coast. Nine of the 10 crew members were rescued.

The United States immediately sent a note of protest to the Kremlin and almost simultaneously the Russians protested to the United States against the alleged violation of its air space.

Miss. House Adopts 'Private School' Plan

[By The Associated Press]

The Mississippi House of Representatives jammed through a constitutional amendment Wednesday allowing the state to abolish public schools and Alabama legislators took the first step toward erecting a similar last-ditch segregation dam.

Approving the measure on the first reading, Mississippi lawmakers voted 109-24 for the "private school" amendment at a special session called by Gov. White.

Senate passage seemed certain as enough senators signed the resolution containing the amendment to assure its passage in the upper house. It would then be submitted to the people.

Airliner Hits Fence, Skids To Stop

A TWA twin-engine airliner, tilted at an angle after its nose wheel collapsed when the plane struck a low fence as it approached Philadelphia's International Airport yesterday, is inspected by company employes. The plane skidded to a halt 100 yards down the runway, with the 22 passengers and crew of three leaving the ship through door on forward port side. No one was injured. The plane was bound from New York to Columbus, Ohio, with a stop at Pittsburgh.

N.Y. GOP Group Endorses Ives For Governor

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—New York's Republican Executive Committee unanimously recommended Sen. Irving M. Ives today as the GOP candidate for governor, an action that could assure his nomination.

Ives, however, said he is trying to persuade Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to run again for a fourth term.

"I am doing my utmost to persuade him to reconsider," the 58-year-old senator told The Associated Press. "I have no comment on my own situation at all."

He described as "wishful thinking" published reports that he will try for the nomination. A Dewey spokesman said the governor has urged Ives to take it.

Press Conference Set

Later Ives told a reporter he had not reached a decision, adding:

"I've got to think about it tonight. I want to talk to the governor again."

The senator said he would hold a news conference tomorrow at 10 a.m. and "by that time I will have made up my mind."

Dewey's televised announcement last night that he would not seek re-election this fall brought political talk to a boil in both Republican and Democratic camps.

New York City's Mayor Robert F. Wagner told a news conference he is not in the running for the Democratic nomination for governor.

An informed source predicted that New York City Democratic leaders would swing the Democratic nomination to Averell Harriman, former ECA administrator.

Roosevelt Also Entry

Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. is a prominent entry in the Democratic picture.

On the heels of Dewey's announcement, Wagner was questioned by newsmen today. "I am not available," he replied. "I am not a candidate under any circumstances."

Wagner said he believed any Democrat could beat the Republican nominee this year. More emphatically, Richard Balch, Democratic state chairman commented:

"Any candidate the Republican party runs, regardless of whether it is Ives or anyone else, will run on Dewey's record and will be defeated."

Undetermined Number Hurt In Catholic Crush

CHICAGO, Sept. 8 (AP)—An undetermined number of persons was injured tonight in a crush at the gate at Soldier Field, where thousands of Roman Catholics gathered to pay tribute to the Virgin Mary.

Police said attempts to remove the injured were being hampered by the vast throng attempting to get into the stadium.

Reds Accuse French

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Communist Vietminh news agency today accused the French of refusing to deliver 3,433 Vietminh prisoners of war who were listed for release following the Indochina armistice.

Pravda Charges Attlee Slandered Soviet After Visit

MOSCOW, Thursday, Sept. 9 (AP)—Pravda in a blistering attack today accused Britain's former Prime Minister Clement Attlee of slandering the Soviet Union and Communist China immediately after enjoying their hospitality.

The Communist party paper said the British Labor party leader is a tool of reactionary circles in the United States and Britain.

Moreover, it added, he is no friend of the Soviet Union and Communist China.

Pravda said Attlee at a Hong Kong news conference showed he was 100 per cent behind U. S. policy and the Western defense system.

British Unions Reject Red Bid

BRIGHTON, England, Sept. 8 (AP)—Britain's eight million strong Trades Union Congress today sharply snubbed Communist gestures of cooperation after hearing the nation's top union chief decry visits behind the Iron Curtain "where people go and get indoctrinated."

Then TUC delegates at their annual meeting dealt a shock to the leadership of their giant federation by only narrowly approving West German rearmament.

The TUC firmly rejected a resolution seeking joint talks with the Communist-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions.

The convention followed this with a vote turning down a Soviet invitation to send a British trade union delegation to Russia.

The West German rearmament resolution, strongly backed by the TUC General Council, carried by less than a half million votes.

Closeness of the vote gave rise to the possibility the official pro-rearmament stand of Britain's Labor party may be upset at its conference three weeks hence. The TUC is the bulwark of the Labor party, but not all Labor party members are trade unionists.

Stevenson Says Democrats Will Air 'Real Issues'

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 8 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson said tonight Democrats "will place country above party, and decency above ambition" by discussing "the real issues" in the November election "whether the Republicans want to or not."

The 1952 Democratic presidential candidate charged that "if Republican leaders don't really believe what they say but say it in order to inflame the people and win elections then they are shameless enemies of what we call democracy."

Stevenson's blunt assertion, in an address prepared for a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner formally opening the Pennsylvania Democratic election campaign, centered around this statement:

"We face the obligation to lift this campaign a considerable notch above the level of slander and ugly, bitter, name-calling to which our political dialogue has sunk in recent months."

He said further:

"If it is the Republicans' decision to generate heat, it is still our duty to shed light.

"We know and have full regard for the value of vigorous political debate. But false, accusing cries of treachery and murder and treason are not the language of democratic debate. They are the language of hate—the epithets of enemies.

"And if the time ever comes when Republicans really regard Democrats, or Democrats regard Republicans, as enemies then truly the processes of democracy will stop—for these processes require, as between the two great parties, compromise and cooperation and respect."

Curtis D. Wilbur Dies

PALO ALTO, Calif., Sept. 8 (AP)—Curtis Dwight Wilbur, who foresaw the threat of Japanese militarism and communism while secretary of the Navy in 1924 and stirred controversy by his outspokeness, died today. He was 87.

Boy, 11, Starts For Brooklyn Movie, Winds Up In England

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Sept. 8 (AP)—"Don't go far and be back in good time for lunch," called out Eugene Hart's grandmother as he left home in Brooklyn last Friday morning. He had 17 cents in his pocket.

Eugene, who is 11, promised he would and—"cross my heart"—he meant it.

Tonight Eugene wound up in this English port across the Atlantic in the liner United States.

Eugene said when he set out he first intended to go to a movie.

"I had only 17 cents and thought it would be a good place to spend the morning," he said. "I then saw in the paper where the United States was in port so I thought I would go and have a look.

"I spent 15 cents for the subway to Times Square and walked to Pier 86."

The big liner was there, all right.

So Eugene just walked aboard to look around.

"I saw a man in uniform," he said, "but he didn't say anything to me. I was still looking around for a couple of hours when I found the ship out at sea."

Eugene said he wasn't exactly scared but "I didn't know who to tell or whether I should tell at all."

Eugene just kept walking around the deck until boat drill that afternoon. A stewardess noticed he didn't have a lifebelt on—and then the story of his adventure came out.

Eugene was confined most of the time to the hospital on the voyage over. But he did get to see the captain. He said the captain "told me in a deep voice not to go ashore at Cherbourg or Southampton as I had given them a lot of bother already."

Eugene is being kept under guard while the liner is in port and then going back. He's due in New York Sept. 14—the day before school opens.

Wis. Senator Says General Arrogant, Lied

Red Prober, Opening Defense, Counters Charges Of Abuse

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) opened his defense against censure charges today by blasting Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker as an arrogant, evasive and untruthful witness on Army handling of suspected Communists.

Zwicker, wearing his World War II decorations, sat on the sidelines and flushed angrily as McCarthy — countering charges he abused the general in a closed hearing last Feb. 18—unleashed a searing new attack.

The Wisconsin senator said he never intended to question Zwicker's loyalty, but he repeated one of his challenged statements about the former Camp Kilmer, N.J., commander — a declaration that Zwicker is not fit to wear the uniform of an American general.

"I said that then, I say it now and I'll say it again!" McCarthy cried out, his voice rising from the subdued monotone in which he gave most of his testimony.

McCarthy took the stand as the third and probably final witness in his effort to refute five groups of charges brought against him by three fellow senators—charges aimed at getting a vote of censure from the entire Senate.

Lawton Refuses To Testify

Earlier his first witness, Maj. Gen. Kirke B. Lawton, refused to give the testimony McCarthy called for, citing a secrecy directive handed down by President Eisenhower during the McCarthy-Army hearings last spring.

The McCarthy side promptly accused the Pentagon of "gagging" Lawton, and the six-member special committee went into closed session to consider whether the general should be ordered to testify. No decision was reached immediately, however, and Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) announced:

"The matter will not be pressed at the moment."

McCarthy's other witness, John J. Harding Jr., of New York, testified he heard Zwicker mutter "you s.o.b." with reference to McCarthy a few hours before Zwicker and McCarthy came to grips at a closed session of the McCarthy Investigating subcommittee in New York.

McCarthy, in turn, said that was exactly the impression Zwicker gave him when he questioned the general about the now-famous case of Maj. Irving Peress. He said Zwicker took "the attitude that the chairman (McCarthy) was an s.o.b. and that he wouldn't answer unless he had to."

McCarthy Assails Peress

Peress is the New York dentist who was given an honorable discharge despite his refusal to answer loyalty questions and despite McCarthy's demand that he be court-martialled. McCarthy renewed today a charge that Peress is "a Fifth Amendment Communist" and that the Army—at that time, anyway — was "coddling" Communists.

Zwicker was Peress' commanding officer at the time of the dis-

Britain Shelves Conference Plan

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Britain today gave up the idea of assembling a nine-power conference by next Tuesday on West German rearmament.

The Bonn government has raised objections to such an early meeting while Paris and Washington showed no enthusiasm for it.

Official sources said Prime Minister Churchill's Cabinet had decided at a three-hour meeting not to cancel permanently the proposed London conference aimed at salvaging the French-rejected plan for bringing West German divisions into a unified European army.

Britain had wanted quick talks to hammer out an alternative to the European Defense Community plan, which the French National Assembly killed, before the United Nations General Assembly meets Sept. 21.

Churchill and his ministers agreed today that a final decision on Germany's role in Western defense must rest with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the informants said. But they stuck to their view that a conference in London confined to the six countries which signed the EDC treaty, plus the United States, Britain, and Canada, could do useful preparatory work.

As he left, the dentist told newsmen:

"I can only say that I am happy and that I would appreciate it very much if people would let me go back to my way of life with no more pictures and no more stories. I cannot discuss my personal problems until I have had a chance to solve them in my own way and in my own time."

Rio Hotel 'Ousts' Ava; Actress Has "Nervous Crisis"

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Sept. 8 (AP)—The management of a fashionable Rio de Janeiro hotel said it asked film actress Ava Gardner to leave after a boisterous reception on her arrival here early today. Her press agent said she had suffered a "nervous crisis."

The big outburst came at the airport from a crowd of Brazilian fans. What happened from there on was less clear.

The hotel management claimed —and Miss Gardner's press secretary David Hanna denied—that she got into the spirit of the welcome by throwing things and shouting in her hotel room. The management of the Gloria Hote, where the incident occurred, conceded damage to the room was insignificant. The actress checked out and went to the Copacabana Palace Hotel.

U.S. And Seven Other Nations Sign Asia Pact

Stop Light Against Aggression By Reds Flashed By Treaty

MANILA, Thursday, Sept. 9 (AP)—Eight nations yesterday signed a security pact which flashes a red stop light against Communist aggression in Asia.

Temporarily named the Southeast Asia Collective Security Defense Treaty, it is aimed at repelling any aggression against the soil of the United States, Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, Pakistan and The Philippines.

While they are not signatories, the treaty extends its protection to the Indochina states of Laos, Cambodia and South Viet Nam. These three, like Thailand, fear they may be the next targets of aggression.

Formosa, ROK Excluded

Excluded are Nationalist Formosa and South Korea—the two nations with the largest anti-Communists armies in Asia—as well as Japan.

Prime Minister Pyun Yung Tai of South Korea immediately showed his displeasure. He belittled the effects of the treaty and told a news conference in Seoul that South Korea was "the only true ally of the United States."

Foreign Minister Katsuo Okazaki of Japan told the Diet, however, he thought Japan "should back it (the treaty) up, at least spiritually."

There was no official comment from Nationalist China, which was preparing for a visit from U. S. Secretary of State Dulles. Dulles was hurrying from the Manila conference to Formosa for a conference with Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek.

No Automatic Rescue

The treaty falls short of the demands of such nations as The Philippines that any attack on any member nation would automatically bring all other members to the rescue. It provides instead that each member in event of aggression will "act to meet the common danger in accordance with its constitutional processes."

In other words, the United States could not go to war under the treaty until war had been declared constitutionally by Congress.

Russia Rejects Protest By U.S.

MOSCOW, Sept. 8 (AP)—Russia tonight rejected an American protest on the shooting down last Saturday of a U.S. Navy Neptune bomber off Siberia by Soviet jets. The Russians repeated their claim the big plane violated Soviet air space.

The Soviet note, delivered by messenger to the American Embassy here, repeated the charge the bomber opened fire first on the Soviet fighters well inside Soviet territorial waters off Siberia.

The U.S. Navy contended the patrol bomber was well outside Russian territorial waters when two Russian jets shot it down 44 miles off the Siberian coast. Nine of the 10 crew members were rescued.

The United States immediately sent a note of protest to the Kremlin and almost simultaneously the Russians protested to the United States against the alleged violation of its air space.

Miss. House Adopts 'Private School' Plan

[By The Associated Press]

The Mississippi House of Representatives jammed through a constitutional amendment Wednesday allowing the state to abolish public schools and Alabama legislators took the first step toward erecting a similar last-ditch segregation dam.

Approving the measure on the first reading, Mississippi lawmakers voted 109-24 for the "private school" amendment at a special session called by Gov. White.

Senate passage seemed certain as enough senators signed the resolution containing the amendment to assure its passage in the upper house. It would then be submitted to the people.

Airliner Hits Fence, Skids To Stop

A TWA twin-engine airliner, tilted at an angle after its nose wheel collapsed when the plane struck a low fence as it approached Philadelphia's International Airport yesterday, is inspected by company employes. The plane skidded to a halt 100 yards down the runway, with the 22 passengers and crew of three leaving the ship through door on forward port side. No one was injured. The plane was bound from New York to Columbus, Ohio, with a stop at Pittsburgh.

N.Y. GOP Group Endorses Ives For Governor

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—New York's Republican Executive Committee unanimously recommended Sen. Irving M. Ives today as the GOP candidate for governor, an action that could assure his nomination.

Ives, however, said he is trying to persuade Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to run again for a fourth term.

"I am doing my utmost to persuade him to reconsider," the 58-year-old senator told The Associated Press. "I have no comment on my own situation at all."

He described as "wishful thinking" published reports that he will try for the nomination. A Dewey spokesman said the governor has urged Ives to take it.

Press Conference Set

Later Ives told a reporter he had not reached a decision, adding:

"I've got to think about it tonight. I want to talk to the governor again."

The senator said he would hold a news conference tomorrow at 10 a.m. and "by that time I will have made up my mind."

Dewey's televised announcement last night that he would not seek re-election this fall brought political talk to a boil in both Republican and Democratic camps.

New York City's Mayor Robert F. Wagner told a news conference he is not in the running for the Democratic nomination for governor.

An informed source predicted that New York City Democratic leaders would swing the Democratic nomination to Averell Harriman, former ECA administrator.

Roosevelt Also Entry

Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. is a prominent entry in the Democratic picture.

On the heels of Dewey's announcement, Wagner was questioned by newsmen today. "I am not available," he replied. "I am not a candidate under any circumstances."

Wagner said he believed any Democrat could beat the Republican nominee this year. More emphatically, Richard Balch, Democratic state chairman commented:

"Any candidate the Republican party runs, regardless of whether it is Ives or anyone else, will run on Dewey's record and will be defeated."

Undetermined Number Hurt In Catholic Crush

CHICAGO, Sept. 8 (AP)—An undetermined number of persons was injured tonight in a crush at the gate at Soldier Field, where thousands of Roman Catholics gathered to pay tribute to the Virgin Mary.

Police said attempts to remove the injured were being hampered by the vast throng attempting to get into the stadium.

Reds Accuse French

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Communist Vietminh news agency today accused the French of refusing to deliver 3,433 Vietminh prisoners of war who were listed for release following the Indochina armistice.

Pravda Charges Attlee Slandered Soviet After Visit

MOSCOW, Thursday, Sept. 9 (AP)—Pravda in a blistering attack today accused Britain's former Prime Minister Clement Attlee of slandering the Soviet Union and Communist China immediately after enjoying their hospitality.

The Communist party paper said the British Labor party leader is a tool of reactionary circles in the United States and Britain.

Moreover, it added, he is no friend of the Soviet Union and Communist China.

Pravda said Attlee at a Hong Kong news conference showed he was 100 per cent behind U. S. policy and the Western defense system.

British Unions Reject Red Bid

BRIGHTON, England, Sept. 8 (AP)—Britain's eight million strong Trades Union Congress today sharply snubbed Communist gestures of cooperation after hearing the nation's top union chief decry visits behind the Iron Curtain "where people go and get indoctrinated."

Then TUC delegates at their annual meeting dealt a shock to the leadership of their giant federation by only narrowly approving West German rearmament.

The TUC firmly rejected a resolution seeking joint talks with the Communist-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions.

The convention followed this with a vote turning down a Soviet invitation to send a British trade union delegation to Russia.

The West German rearmament resolution, strongly backed by the TUC General Council, carried by less than a half million votes.

Closeness of the vote gave rise to the possibility the official pro-rearmament stand of Britain's Labor party may be upset at its conference three weeks hence. The TUC is the bulwark of the Labor party, but not all Labor party members are trade unionists.

Stevenson Says Democrats Will Air 'Real Issues'

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 8 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson said tonight Democrats "will place country above party, and decency above ambition" by discussing "the real issues" in the November election "whether the Republicans want to or not."

The 1952 Democratic presidential candidate charged that "if Republican leaders don't really believe what they say but say it in order to inflame the people and win elections then they are shameless enemies of what we call democracy."

Stevenson's blunt assertion, in an address prepared for a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner formally opening the Pennsylvania Democratic election campaign, centered around this statement:

"We face the obligation to lift this campaign a considerable notch above the level of slander and ugly, bitter, name-calling to which our political dialogue has sunk in recent months."

He said further:

"If it is the Republicans' decision to generate heat, it is still our duty to shed light.

"We know and have full regard for the value of vigorous political debate. But false, accusing cries of treachery and murder and treason are not the language of democratic debate. They are the language of hate—the epithets of enemies.

"And if the time ever comes when Republicans really regard Democrats, or Democrats regard Republicans, as enemies then truly the processes of democracy will stop—for these processes require, as between the two great parties, compromise and cooperation and respect."

Curtis D. Wilbur Dies

PALO ALTO, Calif., Sept. 8 (AP)—Curtis Dwight Wilbur, who foresaw the threat of Japanese militarism and communism while secretary of the Navy in 1924 and stirred controversy by his outspokeness, died today. He was 87.

Boy, 11, Starts For Brooklyn Movie, Winds Up In England

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Sept. 8 (AP)—"Don't go far and be back in good time for lunch," called out Eugene Hart's grandmother as he left home in Brooklyn last Friday morning. He had 17 cents in his pocket.

Eugene, who is 11, promised he would and—"cross my heart"—he meant it.

Tonight Eugene wound up in this English port across the Atlantic in the liner United States.

Eugene said when he set out he first intended to go to a movie.

"I had only 17 cents and thought it would be a good place to spend the morning," he said. "I then saw in the paper where the United States was in port so I thought I would go and have a look.

"I spent 15 cents for the subway to Times Square and walked to Pier 86."

The big liner was there, all right.

So Eugene just walked aboard to look around.

"I saw a man in uniform," he said, "but he didn't say anything to me. I was still looking around for a couple of hours when I found the ship out at sea."

Eugene said he wasn't exactly scared but "I didn't know who to tell or whether I should tell at all."

Eugene just kept walking around the deck until boat drill that afternoon. A stewardess noticed he didn't have a lifebelt on—and then the story of his adventure came out.

Eugene was confined most of the time to the hospital on the voyage over. But he did get to see the captain. He said the captain "told me in a deep voice not to go ashore at Cherbourg or Southampton as I had given them a lot of bother already."

Eugene is being kept under guard while the liner is in port and then going back. He's due in New York Sept. 14—the day before school opens.

Wis. Senator Says General Arrogant, Lied

Red Prober, Opening Defense, Counters Charges Of Abuse

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) opened his defense against censure charges today by blasting Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker as an arrogant, evasive and untruthful witness on Army handling of suspected Communists.

Zwicker, wearing his World War II decorations, sat on the sidelines and flushed angrily as McCarthy — countering charges he abused the general in a closed hearing last Feb. 18—unleashed a searing new attack.

The Wisconsin senator said he never intended to question Zwicker's loyalty, but he repeated one of his challenged statements about the former Camp Kilmer, N.J., commander — a declaration that Zwicker is not fit to wear the uniform of an American general.

"I said that then, I say it now and I'll say it again!" McCarthy cried out, his voice rising from the subdued monotone in which he gave most of his testimony.

McCarthy took the stand as the third and probably final witness in his effort to refute five groups of charges brought against him by three fellow senators—charges aimed at getting a vote of censure from the entire Senate.

Lawton Refuses To Testify

Earlier his first witness, Maj. Gen. Kirke B. Lawton, refused to give the testimony McCarthy called for, citing a secrecy directive handed down by President Eisenhower during the McCarthy-Army hearings last spring.

The McCarthy side promptly accused the Pentagon of "gagging" Lawton, and the six-member special committee went into closed session to consider whether the general should be ordered to testify. No decision was reached immediately, however, and Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) announced:

"The matter will not be pressed at the moment."

McCarthy's other witness, John J. Harding Jr., of New York, testified he heard Zwicker mutter "you s.o.b." with reference to McCarthy a few hours before Zwicker and McCarthy came to grips at a closed session of the McCarthy Investigating subcommittee in New York.

McCarthy, in turn, said that was exactly the impression Zwicker gave him when he questioned the general about the now-famous case of Maj. Irving Peress. He said Zwicker took "the attitude that the chairman (McCarthy) was an s.o.b. and that he wouldn't answer unless he had to."

McCarthy Assails Peress

Peress is the New York dentist who was given an honorable discharge despite his refusal to answer loyalty questions and despite McCarthy's demand that he be court-martialled. McCarthy renewed today a charge that Peress is "a Fifth Amendment Communist" and that the Army—at that time, anyway — was "coddling" Communists.

Zwicker was Peress' commanding officer at the time of the dis-

Britain Shelves Conference Plan

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Britain today gave up the idea of assembling a nine-power conference by next Tuesday on West German rearmament.

The Bonn government has raised objections to such an early meeting while Paris and Washington showed no enthusiasm for it.

Official sources said Prime Minister Churchill's Cabinet had decided at a three-hour meeting not to cancel permanently the proposed London conference aimed at salvaging the French-rejected plan for bringing West German divisions into a unified European army.

Britain had wanted quick talks to hammer out an alternative to the European Defense Community plan, which the French National Assembly killed, before the United Nations General Assembly meets Sept. 21.

Churchill and his ministers agreed today that a final decision on Germany's role in Western defense must rest with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the informants said. But they stuck to their view that a conference in London confined to the six countries which signed the EDC treaty, plus the United States, Britain, and Canada, could do useful preparatory work.

Government Notes Unemployment Dip

Factory Jobs Rise By 240,000 To 15,900,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Unemployment declined slightly to 3,245,000 in August while slowly rising factory payrolls brought total employment up to 62,276,000, the Commerce and Labor Departments reported tonight.

Both changes—a dip of 101,000 in unemployment and a gain of 128,000 in jobholders—were seasonal, and both were smaller than normal.

The brightest showing was in factory employment. Factory jobs rose by 240,000 to 15,900,000 last month, but the increase was offset in part by the usual midsummer drop in farm employment.

The Census Bureau, issuing its findings jointly with the Bureau of Labor Statistics, described the employment picture as "stable," with substantial gains recorded in textiles, apparel and other soft goods manufacturing lines.

Payrolls in the auto, home appliance and other hard goods industries changed only slightly.

The new unemployment figure, only slightly changed from the past three months, represented about 5 per cent of the entire labor force of 65,522,000. It was 2½ times as high as in August of 1953, when the postwar low of unemployment was recorded at 1,240,000.

The number of workers on nonfarm payrolls—not counting the self-employed and domestics - increased by 180,000 to an estimated 48 million.

The average work-week in factories increased by a third of an hour, to 39.7 hours. Lengthening hours of employment generally are considered forerunners of increased hiring.

The better - than - seasonal gains in textiles and apparel were not matched in durable goods plants, where the changes in many industries failed to meet seasonal expectations.

"An especially sharp increase, however, was reported in the electrical machinery group, but the decline in transportation equipment continued — mostly in the automobile industry," the joint announcement said.

Retail stores and wholesalers reduced employment in August and both the transportation and mining industries reported payroll declines which ran counter to seasonal trends. Construction, on the other hand, added 40,000 workers as the early - summer building boom roared ahead.

Heroic Mother Dies Of Cancer

HAWTHORNE, Calif., Sept 8 (AP)—A mother who insisted on bearing her fourth child despite doctors' warnings is dead of the disease that doomed her three years ago.

Mrs. Jean Garrett, 29, succumbed yesterday to Hodgkin's disease, a form lymph-gland cancer.

"My baby has more of a right to live than I have," she said in 1952 when doctors urged her to give up her expected child. They said the step might add years to her life.

Her husky, healthy fourth son, Michael Emmanuel, was born 20 months ago. The mother's health improved in the months that followed.

"We know now that God granted her a reprieve to see Michael through his infancy," her husband, Thomas Garrett, 30, said today.

Yesterday she called her family to her bedside in Harbor General Hsopital.

"She asked us to pray for her," the husband said. "She was awfully brave and said she had been very happy, that she loved us."

Shortly afterward she died.

Her other sons are Thomas Jr., 9, Robert, 5, and Raleigh, 3.

charge and McCarthy called him before the subcommittee for questioning. Zwicker contended executive orders prevented him from giving details, and the row with McCarthy followed.

Today McCarthy declared Zwicker was "one of the most arrogant witnesses, one of the most evasive witnesses I have ever had before my committee—and one of the most irritating."

Laboriously going over the transcript of the Feb. 18 hearing, often line by line, McCarthy contended Zwicker changed his story from time to time and said he felt fully justified in "vigorously" cross-examining the witness to get at the truth.

"It was a long, laborious truth-pulling job," McCarthy said.

He contended Zwicker told one of the subcommittee's investigators, James N. Juliana, that he himself opposed an honorable discharge for Peress but was overruled by the Pentagon. But, said McCarthy, what Zwicker told the subcommittee at the closed hearing was "in conflict" with what he had told Juliana.

The hearing transcript showed Zwicker denied discussing the Peress discharge with anybody in Washington.

"I felt," McCarthy told Watkins at one point, "the general was not telling me the truth."

And he said at another point, defending what he called "vigorous" cross-examination of an "obstreperous" witness:

"After I told the general what his duties were, he did change his position and come through with a different story which I hope was the truth."

ENDORSED—U.S. Sen. Irving M. Ives is shown in his New York apartment yesterday after the New York State Republican Executive Committee endorsed him for the governorship of the state. Ives was endorsed by the committee following Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's announcement that he would not seek a fourth term. Ives said he hasn't "given up" trying to persuade Dewey to reconsider. Two Nationalist Planes Shot Down, Reds Claim

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Communist anti-aircraft fire brought down two Chinese Nationalist F47 fighter planes and damaged four other planes raiding Amoy and nearby China mainland areas today, Peiping radio claimed tonight.

The Red radio said 104 bombs were dropped and 51 civilians were killed or injured.

An earlier broadcast said Nationalist planes raided Chinkiang and Nana counties in the coastal province of Fukien yesterday, killing or wounding 18 persons and damaging fishing junks.

Humphrey Has Vacation Mishap

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Like many another vacationer, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey came back to his office a bit the worse for wear today.

It was the second time this year Humphrey had hobbled back to his desk.

Today the secretary wore a cast on his left foot and ankle and used a cane for balance. An aide said Humphrey sprained the ankle slightly a few days ago while walking on his farm near Cleveland, Ohio.

Vacationing at his farm over the Easter holiday, Humphrey had a horse riding accident in which the muscles above the same ankle were torn when struck by his mount's hoof.

Humphrey goes to Toledo, Ohio, tomorrow night for a Republican party speech. Over the weekend, he is scheduled to fly to Labrador to inspect, with Canadian leaders, development of big new iron ore fields Humphrey helped open up as president of the M. A. Hanna Co.

On Wednesday, Sept. 15, Humphrey is scheduled to fly to Minneapolis for another campaign speech.

His office said the cast is mainly to prevent additional damage to the ankle while he is on that strenuous schedule.

Prospects For Successful Polio Vaccine Called Good

ROME, Sept. 8 (AP)—Three American leaders in the war on polio reported today prospects are good for a vaccine that eventually may give long protection against the disease.

Dr. Jonas E. Salk, whose vaccine already has been given to 425,000 American school children in a massive field trial, said long-term immunity may soon be possible with a few injections.

Another, Dr. Albert B. Sabin, said some possibly remote day—but not yet—a doctor may give a baby a few drops of vaccine and thereby immunize him for life.

The third, Dr. John F. Enders, said new techniques are helping science make "rapid advances toward the development of specific prophylactics for the control of the disease."

More than 1,000 scientists from 49 nations attending the International Poliomyelitis Conference applauded when a Danish colleague, Dr. J. Orskov, offered his congratulations to the Americans for their "courageous way of tackling problems." Orskov was chairman of the session.

Salk's report outlined his team's work in developing the vaccine now undergoing mass tests, whose results will be announced next spring. The 39-year-old bacteriologist of the University of Pittsburgh said that since the tests were started last spring new "ways and means have been evolved of improving upon the vaccine's effect merely by the spacing of doses."

Recent evidence points toward the possibility that a person may be protected against polio by only two injections, instead of the three which American children received last spring, he said.

At that time the children got three shots in five weeks. Since then, Salk said, it has been learned that shots more widely spaced promote more antibodies—the virus-fighting particles in the human blood stream which vaccines create. He said the proper interval now seems to be from six weeks to seven months.

U. Of Md. President State Fair Visitor

TIMONIUM, Md., Sept. 8 (AP)—Almost 17,000 turned out for Farm Bureau and Family Day at the Maryland State Fair today and one of the special guests was Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, new president of the University of Maryland.

Dr. Elkins got the third prize cake baked by Mrs. Carrol Davis of Towson.

Second prize winner, baked by Mrs. Mildred Pearce of Parkton, went to Wilson A. Heaps, president of the Maryland Farm Bureau.

The No. 1 entry will go tomorrow to Gov. McKeldin when he visits the showgrounds all day and preserves his record of never having missed a fair since he was a boy.

Today's attendance, 16,694, was slightly below the 17,009 counted through the gates on the eighth day last year.

Government Notes Unemployment Dip

Factory Jobs Rise By 240,000 To 15,900,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Unemployment declined slightly to 3,245,000 in August while slowly rising factory payrolls brought total employment up to 62,276,000, the Commerce and Labor Departments reported tonight.

Both changes—a dip of 101,000 in unemployment and a gain of 128,000 in jobholders—were seasonal, and both were smaller than normal.

The brightest showing was in factory employment. Factory jobs rose by 240,000 to 15,900,000 last month, but the increase was offset in part by the usual midsummer drop in farm employment.

The Census Bureau, issuing its findings jointly with the Bureau of Labor Statistics, described the employment picture as "stable," with substantial gains recorded in textiles, apparel and other soft goods manufacturing lines.

Payrolls in the auto, home appliance and other hard goods industries changed only slightly.

The new unemployment figure, only slightly changed from the past three months, represented about 5 per cent of the entire labor force of 65,522,000. It was 2½ times as high as in August of 1953, when the postwar low of unemployment was recorded at 1,240,000.

The number of workers on nonfarm payrolls—not counting the self-employed and domestics - increased by 180,000 to an estimated 48 million.

The average work-week in factories increased by a third of an hour, to 39.7 hours. Lengthening hours of employment generally are considered forerunners of increased hiring.

The better - than - seasonal gains in textiles and apparel were not matched in durable goods plants, where the changes in many industries failed to meet seasonal expectations.

"An especially sharp increase, however, was reported in the electrical machinery group, but the decline in transportation equipment continued — mostly in the automobile industry," the joint announcement said.

Retail stores and wholesalers reduced employment in August and both the transportation and mining industries reported payroll declines which ran counter to seasonal trends. Construction, on the other hand, added 40,000 workers as the early - summer building boom roared ahead.

charge and McCarthy called him before the subcommittee for questioning. Zwicker contended executive orders prevented him from giving details, and the row with McCarthy followed.

Today McCarthy declared Zwicker was "one of the most arrogant witnesses, one of the most evasive witnesses I have ever had before my committee—and one of the most irritating."

Laboriously going over the transcript of the Feb. 18 hearing, often line by line, McCarthy contended Zwicker changed his story from time to time and said he felt fully justified in "vigorously" cross-examining the witness to get at the truth.

"It was a long, laborious truth-pulling job," McCarthy said.

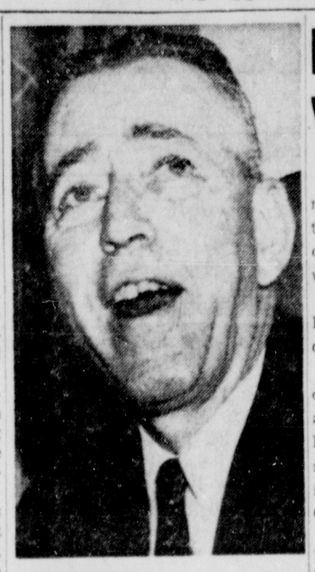
He contended Zwicker told one of the subcommittee's investigators, James N. Juliana, that he himself opposed an honorable discharge for Peress but was overruled by the Pentagon. But, said McCarthy, what Zwicker told the subcommittee at the closed hearing was "in conflict" with what he had told Juliana.

The hearing transcript showed Zwicker denied discussing the Peress discharge with anybody in Washington.

"I felt," McCarthy told Watkins at one point, "the general was not telling me the truth."

And he said at another point, defending what he called "vigorous" cross-examination of an "obstreperous" witness:

"After I told the general what his duties were, he did change his position and come through with a different story which I hope was the truth."



ENDORSED—U.S. Sen. Irving M. Ives is shown in his New York apartment yesterday after the New York State Republican Executive Committee endorsed him for the governorship of the state. Ives was endorsed by the committee following Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's announcement that he would not seek a fourth term. Ives said he hasn't "given up" trying to persuade Dewey to reconsider. Two Nationalist Planes Shot Down, Reds Claim

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Communist anti-aircraft fire brought down two Chinese Nationalist F47 fighter planes and damaged four other planes raiding Amoy and nearby China mainland areas today, Peiping radio claimed tonight.

The Red radio said 104 bombs were dropped and 51 civilians were killed or injured.

An earlier broadcast said Nationalist planes raided Chinkiang and Nana counties in the coastal province of Fukien yesterday, killing or wounding 18 persons and damaging fishing junks.

Humphrey Has Vacation Mishap

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Like many another vacationer, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey came back to his office a bit the worse for wear today.

It was the second time this year Humphrey had hobbled back to his desk.

Today the secretary wore a cast on his left foot and ankle and used a cane for balance. An aide said Humphrey sprained the ankle slightly a few days ago while walking on his farm near Cleveland, Ohio.

Vacationing at his farm over the Easter holiday, Humphrey had a horse riding accident in which the muscles above the same ankle were torn when struck by his mount's hoof.

Humphrey goes to Toledo, Ohio, tomorrow night for a Republican party speech. Over the weekend, he is scheduled to fly to Labrador to inspect, with Canadian leaders, development of big new iron ore fields Humphrey helped open up as president of the M. A. Hanna Co.

On Wednesday, Sept. 15, Humphrey is scheduled to fly to Minneapolis for another campaign speech.

His office said the cast is mainly to prevent additional damage to the ankle while he is on that strenuous schedule.

Prospects For Successful Polio Vaccine Called Good

ROME, Sept. 8 (AP)—Three American leaders in the war on polio reported today prospects are good for a vaccine that eventually may give long protection against the disease.

Dr. Jonas E. Salk, whose vaccine already has been given to 425,000 American school children in a massive field trial, said long-term immunity may soon be possible with a few injections.

Another, Dr. Albert B. Sabin, said some possibly remote day—but not yet—a doctor may give a baby a few drops of vaccine and thereby immunize him for life.

The third, Dr. John F. Enders, said new techniques are helping science make "rapid advances toward the development of specific prophylactics for the control of the disease."

More than 1,000 scientists from 49 nations attending the International Poliomyelitis Conference applauded when a Danish colleague, Dr. J. Orskov, offered his congratulations to the Americans for their "courageous way of tackling problems." Orskov was chairman of the session.

Salk's report outlined his team's work in developing the vaccine now undergoing mass tests, whose results will be announced next spring. The 39-year-old bacteriologist of the University of Pittsburgh said that since the tests were started last spring new "ways and means have been evolved of improving upon the vaccine's effect merely by the spacing of doses."

Recent evidence points toward the possibility that a person may be protected against polio by only two injections, instead of the three which American children received last spring, he said.

At that time the children got three shots in five weeks. Since then, Salk said, it has been learned that shots more widely spaced promote more antibodies—the virus-fighting particles in the human blood stream which vaccines create. He said the proper interval now seems to be from six weeks to seven months.

U. Of Md. President State Fair Visitor

TIMONIUM, Md., Sept. 8 (AP)—Almost 17,000 turned out for Farm Bureau and Family Day at the Maryland State Fair today and one of the special guests was Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, new president of the University of Maryland.

Dr. Elkins got the third prize cake baked by Mrs. Carrol Davis of Towson.

Second prize winner, baked by Mrs. Mildred Pearce of Parkton, went to Wilson A. Heaps, president of the Maryland Farm Bureau.

The No. 1 entry will go tomorrow to Gov. McKeldin when he visits the showgrounds all day and preserves his record of never having missed a fair since he was a boy.

Today's attendance, 16,694, was slightly below the 17,009 counted through the gates on the eighth day last year.

Widow Of Crippled War Veteran Quizzed By Grand Jury Probing Mysterious Death

LA PLATA, Md., Sept. 8 (AP) — Dorothy Dillon Hicks, 25-year-old Richmond waitress and widow of a crippled war veteran, was questioned today before a grand jury which has been probing for weeks into his mysterious death.

Lewis A. Hicks, 34 and paralyzed from the waist down when he was wounded in France with the Second Armored Division, was found dead in his big sedan last March 28.

It was considered a routine automobile fatality until investigators found the car's throttle was taped wide open.

Mrs. Hicks had refused to return to Maryland or to answer questions about the case until today.

She showed up under the compulsion of a court order issued in Richmond last week and is immune from arrest while in Maryland.

The grand jury called her in at 1:48 p.m. after a luncheon recess. During the morning it had heard Sgt. G. E. Newcomer, Maryland State trooper who heads a special investigating team set up to unravel the mysteries of the case.

Mrs. Hicks sat out the morning in the State's attorney's office with her brother, James W. Dillard, and his wife.

The grand jury, in intermittent sessions since July 19, has questioned more than 50 witnesses.

Hicks and his wife visited a number of taverns and restaurants on the night of March 27-28 and the grand jury has tried to question everyone who saw them.

A deputy sheriff spotted them driving away from a place a mile south of La Plata about 2:30 a.m. and reported there was another man in the car.

It apparently was not long after that when the Hicks Lincoln careened off a 70-degree curve in front of their home, seven miles west of La Plata near Port Tobacco, and crashed across 75 yards of driveway and lawn into the foundation of the house.

Almost three hours later Mrs. Hicks called members of his family for help. She said she had been knocked out in the accident. She was cut superficially around the mouth.

Hicks lay dead on the floor of the car, against the right front door.

Officers reported some of those they questioned said he was wearing different clothes when found dead than he had on when he and his wife were touring the taverns.

Some bloody clothes were found hidden in the Hicks basement.

Salisbury Surgeon Succumbs In Chicago

CHICAGO, Sept. 8 (AP)—Dr. L. A. Rademaker, former chief surgeon at Salisbury, Md., Peninsula General Hospital, died here in Passavant Hospital today following a heart seizure in a downtown hotel.

The 54-year-old doctor was here with his wife, Margaret, and their daughter for the annual meeting of the International College of Surgeons.

Rademaker became ill Tuesday while dictating to a stenographer at the Palmer House. He was taken to the hospital from the Chicago hotel.

Mrs. Rademaker said the body would be removed to Salisbury for funeral services, probably Saturday.

Medical, Chirurgical Faculty Meets Sept. 30

BALTIMORE, Sept. 8 (AP) — The Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland will hold its semi-annual meeting at Hagerstown Sept. 30, with sessions at Washington County Hospital and Hotel Alexander.

Business sessions of the house of delegates and the council will be in the morning, with a general meeting and scientific session in the afternoon.

Dr. Julian Johnson, professor of surgery at the University of Pennsylvania, and Dr. Edward J. Steglitz of Washington are to be the speakers on the scientific panel.

Pro-Segregation Forces Launch Baltimore Battle

BALTIMORE, Sept. 8 (AP)—Parents of five white school children and officers of two organizations today sought a court order which would compel Baltimore to maintain segregated schools.

Baltimore's public school system opened for the fall term yesterday with whites and Negroes sitting together in classrooms in at least 16 schools.

The suit was filed in Baltimore Superior Court and asked for a writ of mandamus against the school board.

Robert M. Furniss Jr., a Rockville, Md., attorney representing the National Association for the Advancement of White People and the Maryland Petition Committee of Jessup, Md., presented the petition on behalf of the two organizations and the parents.

He first submitted the papers yesterday but Judge John T. Tucker declined to docket them because they did not name individually the members of the school board.

Furniss argued in his petition that two sections of the Baltimore City Code, one providing for separate schools for Negro children and one providing Negro teachers for them, still are in force despite the Supreme Court's ruling against segregation last May 17.

City Solicitor Thomas N. Biddison ruled soon after the Supreme Court decision that the code provisions were invalidated by it.

The public schools in Maryland's 23 counties are continuing on a segregated basis. Attorney General Edward D. E. Rollins held the State law requiring segregation remains in effect until the Supreme Court implements its decision with final decrees and mandates. These are not expected for several months.

Trucker Accused Of 11 Burglaries At Doctors' Offices

BALTIMOE, Sept. 8 (AP) — Earl E. Mayo, 26-year-old truck driver, today was charged with 11 burglaries at the offices of doctors in the past nine months.

His wife was charged with helping him in four of them.

Mayo was trapped by police in the basement of a tavern whose owner suspected a burglar was in the place.

Sgt. Ellis Gilmore reported he searched the Mayo apartment and found an assortment of typewriters, radios and fans taken from the doctors' offices.

Col. Henry C. Standwood, selective service director, estimated the number of Maryland men inducted into the military service since the fighting began in Korea in 1950 will reach 26,000 by the end of this month.

Up to June 1, when inductions stood at 25,790, another 23,643 Maryland men had been rejected for physical, mental or moral reasons.

Mrs. X., who owns the hideaway with her husband and maintains the traditional anonymity of her group by asking not be named, said they're out to get a younger couple to run the place.

"Believe me," she explained, "If we were 20 years younger we'd never think of selling."

Three Women Named To Lead Byrd Campaign

BALTIMORE, Sept. 8 (AP)—Three prominent Maryland Democratic women were named co-chairmen today of the women's division of Dr. H. C. Byrd's campaign for governor of Maryland.

Named to head the women's campaign efforts were State Sen. Margaret J. Crothers of Cecil County, Mrs. M. Alice Canoles, Democratic national committeewoman, and Mrs. E. Brooke Lee, chairman of the United Democratic Women's Clubs of Maryland and wife of Byrd's primary campaign manager.

Their selection resulted from a luncheon at which Byrd met with the three and Mrs. John A. Meyer, congressional committeewoman, and Dr. Mildred J. Otenasak, and Mrs. Mary A. Duvall, both party leaders.

It was decided that women's campaign committees would be set up in each county and in each Baltimore City district in order to enlist women voters to the Democratic campaign.

Dr. Otenasak was selected co-chairman of the campaign speakers committee.

Mrs. Meyer said the women were greatly heartened and impressed by Byrd's platform plank assuring women equal treatment in appointments to state offices.

Mrs. Duvall said women will hold candidates accountable for their platform promises and said Gov. McKeldin deserves their condemnation because of his failure to carry out his promises.

Mrs. Canoles said the party would seek the views of the younger voters and give them proper recognition in party affairs and appointments.

Rail Mergers Could Cut Costs

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Sept. 8 (AP)—Big railroads can help the industry lick the "formidable" problem of high operating costs if they merge with their weaker and smaller neighbor-railroads, Donald V. Fraser, president of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Lines, said yesterday.

Railroad management, he told the Treasury Division of the Assn. of American Railroads, has lost sight of the fact that the industry is made up of a group of interdependent units and has "neglected the co-operative viewpoint."

"We have been blind to a basic truth—that no individual corporate success can be built without some contribution from others; that the prosperity and welfare of one is dependent to a measurable degree upon the prosperity and welfare of the rest and especially those in close proximity to us," he declared.

Fraser said changes in the national economy have reached a point where both management and security owners "should and must give serious consideration to the benefits to be derived from the consolidation of (railroad) properties." Elimination of duplicating services of trunk and neighboring lines could effect tremendous savings without endangering standards of service to the public.

Charles Co. Commissioners Denounce 'False' Publicity

LA PLATA, Md., Sept. 8 (AP)—Charles County commissioners yesterday issued a formal statement which described a recent series of newspaper stories concerning alleged slot machine activities in the county as "false, insidious, unwarranted and damaging publicity."

The statement, issued over the names of Calvin L. Compton, president of the board of commissioners, and William M. Boone, a member, said:

"Today's meeting is the first our board has had since a series of articles appeared in the Washington Post and Times-Herald concerning certain activities in Charles County, and we consider it our duty to make known our appraisal and reaction regarding the same.

"To begin with, we wish to emphatically and unequivocably state that, in our opinion, the articles were, for the most part, false insidious, unwarranted and damaging publicity to the interests and good name of our county, its administrators and citizens.

"Many of the facts reported are personally known to us to be glaringly distorted and incorrect, and we are further informed that a number of persons were grossly misrepresented or misquoted.

"We ourselves, for instance, were quoted as follows: 'County commissioners Calvin Compton and W. L. Boone point out that the "real story" in the county is the dope situation.'

"This is a downright and deliberate fabrication, and no such statement was ever made by either of us to a reporter or to anyone else," the commissioners' statement continued.

"We are also advised by Sheriff R. Vernon Cooksey that he was credited with certain statements which he never made to a reporter nor to anyone at any time in his whole life.

"Further, we are reliably informed that an FBI agent not only denied statements attributed to him, but said he never even met the reporter, or any reporter who may have visited Charles County to 'collect material' for the story.

"We remember distinctly too," the commissioners added, "that at the time the reporter interviewed us, we told him we felt we had a nice county, fine and friendly people, and asked him why he did not write something nice about us. To this he replied, 'Nobody reads "nice" things about people.'

"From that it was evident that his story was designed and had to be a derogatory one.

"As county commissioners, we feel that to a large extent we represent Charles County and that accordingly it is our duty to protect the interest and good name of our people and of the county itself.

"We resent the defamatory articles referred to and have instructed our attorney to carefully review them and to advise us at the earliest possible moment as to our rights and responsibilities in so far as it concerns taking legal action against the publishers of the paper," the statement concluded.

Political Broadcast Rules Aid Candidates

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Political office-seekers who plan to buy broadcast time in the upcoming campaign got help today from the Federal Communications Commission.

The FCC placed into effect immediately new rules called for in a 1952 amendment to the Communications Act.

They assure political candidates of:

The same broadcast rates that apply to other commercial users and equal rates to all candidates for one particular office with rebates prohibited.

The revised regulations say all discount privileges extended to commercial advertisers shall also be available to political candidates, and that there shall be no discrimination or preferences shown in making time available.

Boys Playing Army Transferred To Navy

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio, Sept. 8 (AP)—A small army of boys joined navy yesterday.

Three boys, aged 11, 12 and 13, were throwing eggs at a house. The home owner called police.

"We're playing army," the youngsters told Policeman Arnold Ferguson. "The eggs are hand grenades."

"Boys, you've just been transferred to the navy," Ferguson informed them. "And your first job is to swab the porch and the windows."

He said their work passed the white-glove inspection of the home owner and himself.

Eisenhower's Atomic Pool Plan Is Major Item On U.N. General Assembly's Agenda

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 8 (AP)—President Eisenhower's proposal for the peaceful pooling of atomic energy stands out today as one of the top items to be considered at the ninth U. N. Assembly meeting Sept. 21.

The official agenda of the Assembly, totaling 67 items, shows the Eisenhower plan for sharing atomic benefits under adequate safeguards is just about the most robust fare to be served to the debate-hungry delegates.

A number of the items proposed are so old and debate-worn that even the delegates advancing them are tired of them.

The President and his chief U. N. delegate, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. have been directing intensive staff work on the American proposals. The Soviet Union rejected the proposals, made last Dec. 8 by the President at a meeting of the Assembly, but Eisenhower appears determined to do what he can about sharing the atomic benefits despite the Russian "nyet."

Lodge told the American Legion at its national convention in Washington last week that the rest of the world should not be deprived of the "opportunity and benefit of the President's proposal as a result of the dog-in-the-manger attitude of the Soviet Union, and the United States is giving priority consideration to how the President's program can be carried out."

The American problem is how to share the atomic benefits and at the same time protect the security of the United States. Lodge said that recent amendments to the Atomic Energy Act would facilitate progress in making these benefits available.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky, back from Moscow with a diplomatic pouch full of Communist ideas, has been quietly conferring with some delegates and secretariat people, but has kept his plans to himself. It is a safe bet that he will demand the admission of Red China at the start—and that he will fail again.

Vishinsky usually comes up also with a Soviet plan for prohibition of the atomic weapons now, a one-third cut in the armed forces of the great powers and measures against war-mongering. But some sources familiar with the Russian tactics expressed doubt he would press these ideas so hard this year. One informed person said it was apparent that even the Russians have become tired of their old-line propaganda proposals and may bring in a few new twists to assail the West.

Some other items on the agenda include the Korean question, a plan to set up a special fund for making grants-in-aid and long-term loans available to underdeveloped countries, Morocco, Tunisia, the Indonesian-Dutch controversy over West New Guinea, and the admission of new members.

The atomic issue will be considered when the Assembly takes up the report of the Disarmament Commission, unless it is brought up as a separate new item at the start of the Assembly. The Disarmament Commission reported failure in its efforts to make progress toward disarmament.

Another hot subject for Americans will be the judgment of the International Court of Justice that the U. N. must pay $179,420 to 11 Americans who were fired from the U. N. staff as a result of the loyalty investigations here. Lodge is opposed to this payment. The Assembly majority, however, is expected to approve it.

The Assembly will open with election of a president and the betting here is that Eelco N. Van Kleffens, former Dutch foreign minister, will squeeze in by a slight margin over Prince Wan Waithayakon, foreign minister of Thailand.

Van Kleffens began his campaign last year while Prince Wan, defeated by Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit of India in 1953, decided only in July to make another attempt. He has the backing of the United States, but even that is not expected to overcome the lead established by Van Kleffens.

Best Soldiers Have Higher Intelligence, Tests Reveal

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—An Army psychologist said today tests in Korea showed the best fighting men were of "significantly higher intelligence" and came from higher income groups.

Dr. Launor F. Carter, director of a human research unit of the Office of Chief of Army Field Forces, Fort Ord, Calif., reported the results of the test at the annual convention of the American Psychological Assn.

The tests were part of an investigation of what makes outstanding combat soldiers better than others. He said the tests showed that in addition to higher intelligence, the better fighters were taller, more muscular, excelled in athletics, and had more "masculine maturity."

The tests were conducted with 647 enlisted men from rifle companies of the 2nd, 7th and 45th Divisions in Korea, he said.

Dr. Carter said psychologists asked the men such questions as what man they would like most to go on a pass with; the man they'd like to lead them, and the man they'd like to have alongside them in battle.

The good fighters, he said, were rated good companions much more often than poor fighters, and tended to come from stable homes with strong parental ties and a high "intellectual climate."

Average daily coal output in July was down 5 per cent from June in the district and 14 per cent below July, 1953.

'Copter Lands On Race Track

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 8 (AP)—The five men aboard a Marine Corps helicopter escaped injury yesterday when the craft made an emergency landing on a dirt automobile race track east of Charleston.

The craft was one of five helicopters en route back to their base at Quantico, Va., from the National Air Show at Dayton, Ohio. The other four 'copters circled until the emergency landing was completed and then landed at Kanawha Airport here.

Maj. James Percy of Ventura, Calif., pilot of the disabled craft, said, "we made a controlled emergency landing." Percy and his copilot, Maj. Robert Healy, attributed the mishap to a mechnical failure.

The landing caused the rotor to shear off part of the craft's tail section. Rotor blades and landing gear also were damaged.

Others aboard were identified as Sgt. W. E. Costlow, M. Sgt. Charles Knox and a Sgt. Stock.

Eisenhower's Atomic Pool Plan Is Major Item On U.N. General Assembly's Agenda

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 8 (AP)—President Eisenhower's proposal for the peaceful pooling of atomic energy stands out today as one of the top items to be considered at the ninth U. N. Assembly meeting Sept. 21.

The official agenda of the Assembly, totaling 67 items, shows the Eisenhower plan for sharing atomic benefits under adequate safeguards is just about the most robust fare to be served to the debate-hungry delegates.

A number of the items proposed are so old and debate-worn that even the delegates advancing them are tired of them.

The President and his chief U. N. delegate, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. have been directing intensive staff work on the American proposals. The Soviet Union rejected the proposals, made last Dec. 8 by the President at a meeting of the Assembly, but Eisenhower appears determined to do what he can about sharing the atomic benefits despite the Russian "nyet."

Lodge told the American Legion at its national convention in Washington last week that the rest of the world should not be deprived of the "opportunity and benefit of the President's proposal as a result of the dog-in-the-manger attitude of the Soviet Union, and the United States is giving priority consideration to how the President's program can be carried out."

The American problem is how to share the atomic benefits and at the same time protect the security of the United States. Lodge said that recent amendments to the Atomic Energy Act would facilitate progress in making these benefits available.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky, back from Moscow with a diplomatic pouch full of Communist ideas, has been quietly conferring with some delegates and secretariat people, but has kept his plans to himself. It is a safe bet that he will demand the admission of Red China at the start—and that he will fail again.

Vishinsky usually comes up also with a Soviet plan for prohibition of the atomic weapons now, a one-third cut in the armed forces of the great powers and measures against war-mongering. But some sources familiar with the Russian tactics expressed doubt he would press these ideas so hard this year. One informed person said it was apparent that even the Russians have become tired of their old-line propaganda proposals and may bring in a few new twists to assail the West.

Some other items on the agenda include the Korean question, a plan to set up a special fund for making grants-in-aid and long-term loans available to underdeveloped countries, Morocco, Tunisia, the Indonesian-Dutch controversy over West New Guinea, and the admission of new members.

The atomic issue will be considered when the Assembly takes up the report of the Disarmament Commission, unless it is brought up as a separate new item at the start of the Assembly. The Disarmament Commission reported failure in its efforts to make progress toward disarmament.

Another hot subject for Americans will be the judgment of the International Court of Justice that the U. N. must pay $179,420 to 11 Americans who were fired from the U. N. staff as a result of the loyalty investigations here. Lodge is opposed to this payment. The Assembly majority, however, is expected to approve it.

The Assembly will open with election of a president and the betting here is that Eelco N. Van Kleffens, former Dutch foreign minister, will squeeze in by a slight margin over Prince Wan Waithayakon, foreign minister of Thailand.

Van Kleffens began his campaign last year while Prince Wan, defeated by Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit of India in 1953, decided only in July to make another attempt. He has the backing of the United States, but even that is not expected to overcome the lead established by Van Kleffens.

Best Soldiers Have Higher Intelligence, Tests Reveal

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—An Army psychologist said today tests in Korea showed the best fighting men were of "significantly higher intelligence" and came from higher income groups.

Dr. Launor F. Carter, director of a human research unit of the Office of Chief of Army Field Forces, Fort Ord, Calif., reported the results of the test at the annual convention of the American Psychological Assn.

The tests were part of an investigation of what makes outstanding combat soldiers better than others. He said the tests showed that in addition to higher intelligence, the better fighters were taller, more muscular, excelled in athletics, and had more "masculine maturity."

The tests were conducted with 647 enlisted men from rifle companies of the 2nd, 7th and 45th Divisions in Korea, he said.

Dr. Carter said psychologists asked the men such questions as what man they would like most to go on a pass with; the man they'd like to lead them, and the man they'd like to have alongside them in battle.

The good fighters, he said, were rated good companions much more often than poor fighters, and tended to come from stable homes with strong parental ties and a high "intellectual climate."

'Copter Lands On Race Track

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 8 (AP)—The five men aboard a Marine Corps helicopter escaped injury yesterday when the craft made an emergency landing on a dirt automobile race track east of Charleston.

The craft was one of five helicopters en route back to their base at Quantico, Va., from the National Air Show at Dayton, Ohio. The other four 'copters circled until the emergency landing was completed and then landed at Kanawha Airport here.

Maj. James Percy of Ventura, Calif., pilot of the disabled craft, said, "we made a controlled emergency landing." Percy and his co-pilot, Maj. Robert Healy, attributed the mishap to a mechnical failure.

The landing caused the rotor to shear off part of the craft's tail section. Rotor blades and landing gear also were damaged.

Others aboard were identified as Sgt. W. E. Costlow, M. Sgt. Charles Knox and a Sgt. Stock.

Cost Of School Lunches Remains Same In County

The cost of the school lunch in Allegany County public schools will remain the same as last year, Mrs. Gladys M. Eaton, supervisor of cafeterias for the Board of Education, announced yesterday.

Despite fluctuating costs during the past several years, the price of the Allegany County school lunches has been held to the same minimum cost.

The charge for elementary and high school children will be $1.25 a week or 25 cents a day. Primary pupils will be charged one dollar a week or 20 cents a day.

The reduced price lunch is 15 cents a day and chocolate milk is one cent extra if it is part of the lunch.

Mrs. Eaton pointed out that when milk is not part of the balanced lunch, white milk will be six cents for each half pint and chocolate milk will be ten cents a half pint.

She said this school year the subsidy of one cent for each half pint of milk has been discontinued by the State Department of Education.

In following with a letter to superintendents of schools from Dr. John J. Siedel, assistant superintendent for vocational education, adult lunches served in school cafeterias will be 35 cents or ten cents more than the children's lunch.

Mrs. Eaton said that children may purchase their lunch at school, bring their lunch or go home for lunch. Written permission from parents should be secured if they are to eat at any other place. She explained that this is in the best interest of the health and welfare of the child.

Each school lunch is checked for nutritional content by Mrs. Eaton. Each one must contain enough food value to satisfy one half of the child's daily requirements.

The are 105 regular cafeteria workers and about ten part time, Mrs. Eaton said.

The cafeteria at Oldtown School, will be operated on a makeshift basis for about 30 days when the new lunch room will be completed.

The cafeteria supervisor reported that rollaway tables and benches have been provided at East Side, Columbia Street and Johnson Heights school cafeterias.

This is part of a plan by school officials to make use of the cafeteria as an assembly room. In these three cases, the auditoriums were utilized for food serving.

The school lunch program will get under way today, the first full day of the fall term.

Telegrapher Becomes State Police Officer

Roy B. Knadler, of Martinsburg, formerly employed by the B&O Railroad as a telegrapher at points between Cumberland and Harpers Ferry, has reported for West Virginia State Police duty at Morgantown after being graduated from the State Police Academy at Dunbar last week.

Knadler, 29, is a veteran of the Marine Corps, having spent 30 months during World War II as a corporal with overseas duty on Iwo Jima and occupation duty in Japan.

A native of Martinsburg, he worked for six years as a telegraph operator for the B&O.

October Jury May Be Drawn Tomorrow

The jury for the October term of Allegany County Circuit Court will probably be drawn this Friday, Judge Morgan C. Harris said yesterday.

The jury must be compiled 15 days prior to October 4, the beginning of the fall term.

A heavy civil docket faces the judges and petit jury this term with over three hundred cases having been filed.

The criminal docket is about average with few serious crimes to be placed before the grand jury.

Several of the major cases were tried during the summer when the defendants agreed to waive jury trial and have their cases tried before a judge.

Judge Harris will be in Oakland Tuesday to deliver the charge to open the September term of Garrett County Circuit Court.

Trials are scheduled in Garrett County all next week, Judge Harris said.

Armed Forces Ballots Ready For Distribution

Absentee ballots are being mailed to military personnel who have made application, according to William A. Wilson, president of the Board of Election Supervisors.

The nine who filed for primary ballots will automatically receive general election ballots. Those in the armed forces need not be registered ahead of time in order to vote as the application registers them, Wilson explained.

Applications may be obtained from the board's office in the Court House. They will also be available at Frostburg, Westernport, Lonaconing and Mt. Savage on September 29 and 30 and October 1 and 2, the days the registrars sit in these places.

May Vote Ahead Of Time

In addition any member of the armed forces home on leave may vote at the Court House starting today. A voting booth has been set up for this purpose.

The ballot will contain the names of county, state and congressional candidates. Nine proposed amendments to the constitution will also be listed.

One of these amendments would permit absentee voting by civilians who are absent at the time of any election from the district in which they are entitled to vote.

A second would prohibit enactment by the General Assembly of local laws relating to those municipal corporations which are not authorized by the Constitution to have a charter form of government, with certain exceptions, and confer powers of charter amendment and home rule upon such corporations.

One On Judges

Two of the amendments would relate to an additional judge in the Sixth Judicial Circuit, to come from Montgomery county. One amendment would provide that there be not less than four judges in the Sixth Circuit, no fewer than three of them residents of Montgomery County. A second would create an additional judgeship in Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Montgomery and Prince Georges counties.

Other amendments:

To increase the annual salary of the Governor of Maryland from $4,500 to $15,000.

To provide that the salary of the secretary of state may be fixed by the General Assembly, that he not be required to reside at the seat of government and removing a reference to the former office of private secretary.

That there be no fewer than three judges resident in Baltimore County.

Candidates Named

Providing that no local law shall be enacted or construed to authorize the Mayor and Council of Baltimore to apply any of its powers or authority under Article XID "Port Development" within the territorial limits of Howard or Anne Arundel counties without in certain instances the prior consent and approval after a public hearing by the county commissioners; providing further that Anne Arundel County shall retain the power of taxation over certain lands.

Providing that the sheriff of Baltimore City shall receive such salary as is fixed by law, clarifying provisions of the section.

For Governor, Harry Clifton Byrd, Democrat; Theodore R. McKeldin, Republican.

For Attorney General: Edward D. E. Rollins, Republican; C. Ferdinand Sybert, Democrat.

For Comptroller: J. Millard Tawes, Democrat, (unopposed).

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Sophistication, strictly defined, has to do with the worldly and the artificial. To me, the word has a different connotation: Sophistication is the ability to be at ease under all circumstances, through knowledge and understanding. Now here's an ability worth cultivating!

To acquire this kind of sophistication, you must first study your actions and reactions. Discover when and why you are not at ease by recognizing where your knowledge and understanding fall short.

Test Yourself

Imagine yourself in a group of people . . . consider how you would answer these questions:

(1) Can you not envy another woman her attractive figure? (2) Can you walk across a crowded room, confident that your walk is graceful? (3) Can you sit for 15 minutes without fidgeting? (4) Can you see yourself in a mirror and compliment yourself on your appearance? (5) Can you refrain from frequent appraisals of makeup?

(6) Can you speak with knowledge that your audience will listen? (7) Can you let your hands rest easily without having to conceal roughness or chipped nail polish? (8) Can you put others at ease by your gracious manner? (9) Can you converse intelligently on a normal evening's topics? (10) Can you honestly exhibit interest in all that goes on around you?

If all ten answers are "yes," by my definition you are a sophisticated woman — you pass the tests of being at ease. If you came to a "no" answer or two, learn how to make negatives become positives.

Tackle your weight problem to smooth unattractive angles into becoming curves. Make your walk graceful by concentrating on exercises for posture and balance. Learn to relax while seated: grace in repose is as elemental to charming sophistication, as is grace in motion. Choose dresses and accessories that enhance your best points, and make your mirrored self look smart.

"Growing" Hints

Experiment with makeup until you achieve a natural glow. Acquire "listenability" — the quality which makes people want to hear you speak. Concentrate on what others are doing and saying, to help you forget yourself.

Be aware of the world and appreciate all that it offers. Be interested in many things; you'll be a more interesting person. You'll have the sophistication that puts you at ease with yourself and others.

YOUR POSTURE

To achieve grace of the highest degree—to make yours the posture ideal—to improve stance, figure, health and the appearance of your clothes as well, read the informative, easy-to-follow booklet "YOUR POSTURE". For a copy, write to Secrets of Charm in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin to help cover cost.

Local Man Faces Assault Charge In Pennsylvania

Ronald Shuck, 401 Laing Avenue, was arrested early Tuesday night for Pennsylvania authorities on an assault and battery warrant.

Taken into custody less than two hours earlier was Bernard Hardy, 207 Oak Street. Local police had no details but the pair was turned over to Constable Ira F. Selkeld.

Events Planned For Scouts At Camp Potomac

Two big events are scheduled for Scouts and Cubs of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, Saturday, according to Willis V. Smith, council executive.

Camp Potomac near Oldtown will be the scene of the annual council Cub Day for Cubs, parents, leaders, den chiefs, den mothers and others interested in this phase of scouting.

On the same day, Scouts and Explorers will convene at Frostburg State Teachers College for the third annual council archery meet.

The Cub Day starting at 2 p. m. will have softball, volleyball, horseshoes, archery, boating, canoeing, swimming and fishing for recreational activities.

Members of the summer camp staff, assisted by Cub leaders and parents, will be in charge of the various events.

The outing will give parents a chance to see the facilities available for their sons at Camp Potomac.

Smith suggested that a picnic supper be brought along, planned on either a family, den or pack basis, to conclude the day at camp.

The archery meet will begin at 10 a. m. on the college athletic field with Kenneth Babcock, college athletic director and who served as archery instructor and camp director of Camp Potomac this summer, as officer of the green.

Training Class For Children Is Planned

Monday, September 20, is the tentative date for beginning the training class for mentally retarded children, according to plans made at a recent meeting of the local chapter of the Friends Aware of Handicapped Children.

The group also made plans for a picnic Saturday at Kiwanis Sunshine Camp for those children who have registered to attend the class.

The articles of incorporation have been accepted. It was decided to proceed wtih the necessary steps to incorporate. The cost will be borne by the parents.

The group voted to make efforts to obtain enough material, to provide transportation, and to run the Sunshine School without using the school fund, until such time as the services of a trained person are available.

Then the money that has been accumulated and saved will be available to purchase those items which a person so trained would find necessary or desirable to develop the best program.

Second-hand wheel toys of all types, large blocks, beads, puzzles, realistic trucks, road graders and all kinds of toys and games contributing to coordination or creativeness are needed.

Committees were appointed as follows: Outdoor equipment, David Hamilton and Charles Statler: indoor equipment: Mrs. Frank Schilling and Mrs. Marcus Naughton, and screening: Mrs. David Hamilton, Mrs. Charles Statler, Mrs. Bernard Coulehan, Mrs. Aden Everstine, and Mrs. John Long.

Volunteers who have offered to assist the mothers with the school program include: Mrs. Robert Matlick, Mrs. Robert Blanchard, Mrs. John Dorn, Mrs. Shoemaker, Mrs. Joseph Williams, Mrs. Lester Hendricks, Mrs. W. D. Claus, Mrs. Claude Twigg, Mrs. Patrick Allender, Mrs. Albert Paye, Mrs. John Cupler, Miss Mabel Miley, Mrs. J. J. Cavanaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Herboldsheimer and Mrs. E. E. Haan. Additional volunteers to assist wtih transportation are needed.

A check for $20 was received from the Navy Mothers' Club. Mrs. David Hamilton reported that the clothing sale netted $100.

A meeting will be held today at 8 p. m. at the Cumberland Savings Bank following a 7:30 conference between members of the screening committee and Mrs. Aden Everstine.

Officers today urged all parents and volunteers interested in making plans for Saturday's picnic to arrange to attend today's meeting.

Armed Forces Ballots Ready For Distribution

Absentee ballots are being mailed to military personnel who have made application, according to William A. Wilson, president of the Board of Election Supervisors.

The nine who filed for primary ballots will automatically receive general election ballots. Those in the armed forces need not be registered ahead of time in order to vote as the application registers them, Wilson explained.

Applications may be obtained from the board's office in the Court House. They will also be available at Frostburg, Westernport, Lonaconing and Mt. Savage on September 29 and 30 and October 1 and 2, the days the registrars sit in these places.

May Vote Ahead Of Time

In addition any member of the armed forces home on leave may vote at the Court House starting today. A voting booth has been set up for this purpose.

The ballot will contain the names of county, state and congressional candidates. Nine proposed amendments to the constitution will also be listed.

One of these amendments would permit absentee voting by civilians who are absent at the time of any election from the district in which they are entitled to vote.

A second would prohibit enactment by the General Assembly of local laws relating to those municipal corporations which are not authorized by the Constitution to have a charter form of government, with certain exceptions, and confer powers of charter amendment and home rule upon such corporations.

One On Judges

Two of the amendments would relate to an additional judge in the Sixth Judicial Circuit, to come from Montgomery county. One amendment would provide that there be not less than four judges in the Sixth Circuit, no fewer than three of them residents of Montgomery County. A second would create an additional judgeship in Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Montgomery and Prince Georges counties.

Other amendments:

To increase the annual salary of the Governor of Maryland from $4,500 to $15,000.

To provide that the salary of the secretary of state may be fixed by the General Assembly, that he not be required to reside at the seat of government and removing a reference to the former office of private secretary.

That there be no fewer than three judges resident in Baltimore County.

Candidates Named

Providing that no local law shall be enacted or construed to authorize the Mayor and Council of Baltimore to apply any of its powers or authority under Article XID "Port Development" within the territorial limits of Howard or Anne Arundel counties without in certain instances the prior consent and approval after a public hearing by the county commissioners; providing further that Anne Arundel County shall retain the power of taxation over certain lands.

Providing that the sheriff of Baltimore City shall receive such salary as is fixed by law, clarifying provisions of the section.

For Governor, Harry Clifton Byrd, Democrat; Theodore R. McKeldin, Republican.

For Attorney General: Edward D. E. Rollins, Republican; C. Ferdinand Sybert, Democrat.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Sophistication, strictly defined, has to do with the worldly and the artificial. To me, the word has a different connotation: Sophistication is the ability to be at ease under all circumstances, through knowledge and understanding. Now here's an ability worth cultivating!

To acquire this kind of sophistication, you must first study your actions and reactions. Discover when and why you are not at ease by recognizing where your knowledge and understanding fall short.

Test Yourself

Imagine yourself in a group of people . . . consider how you would answer these questions:

(1) Can you not envy another woman her attractive figure? (2) Can you walk across a crowded room, confident that your walk is graceful? (3) Can you sit for 15 minutes without fidgeting? (4) Can you see yourself in a mirror and compliment yourself on your appearance? (5) Can you refrain from frequent appraisals of makeup?

(6) Can you speak with knowledge that your audience will listen? (7) Can you let your hands rest easily without having to conceal roughness or chipped nail polish? (8) Can you put others at ease by your gracious manner? (9) Can you converse intelligently on a normal evening's topics? (10) Can you honestly exhibit interest in all that goes on around you?

If all ten answers are "yes," by my definition you are a sophisticated woman — you pass the tests of being at ease. If you came to a "no" answer or two, learn how to make negatives become positives.

Tackle your weight problem to smooth unattractive angles into becoming curves. Make your walk graceful by concentrating on exercises for posture and balance. Learn to relax while seated: grace in repose is as elemental to charming sophistication, as is grace in motion. Choose dresses and accessories that enhance your best points, and make your mirrored self look smart.

"Growing" Hints

Experiment with makeup until you achieve a natural glow. Acquire "listenability" — the quality which makes people want to hear you speak. Concentrate on what others are doing and saying, to help you forget yourself.

Be aware of the world and appreciate all that it offers. Be interested in many things; you'll be a more interesting person. You'll have the sophistication that puts you at ease with yourself and others.

YOUR POSTURE

To achieve grace of the highest degree—to make yours the posture ideal—to improve stance, figure, health and the appearance of your clothes as well, read the informative, easy-to-follow booklet "YOUR POSTURE". For a copy, write to Secrets of Charm in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin to help cover cost.

Tomorrow: Hats for everyone.

Events Planned For Scouts At Camp Potomac

Two big events are scheduled for Scouts and Cubs of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, Saturday, according to Willis V. Smith, council executive.

Camp Potomac near Oldtown will be the scene of the annual council Cub Day for Cubs, parents, leaders, den chiefs, den mothers and others interested in this phase of scouting.

On the same day, Scouts and Explorers will convene at Frostburg State Teachers College for the third annual council archery meet.

The Cub Day starting at 2 p. m. will have softball, volleyball, horseshoes, archery, boating, canoeing, swimming and fishing for recreational activities.

Members of the summer camp staff, assisted by Cub leaders and parents, will be in charge of the various events.

The outing will give parents a chance to see the facilities available for their sons at Camp Potomac.

Smith suggested that a picnic supper be brought along, planned on either a family, den or pack basis, to conclude the day at camp.

The archery meet will begin at 10 a. m. on the college athletic field with Kenneth Babcock, college athletic director and who served as archery instructor and camp director of Camp Potomac this summer, as officer of the green.

Church World Service Truck Is Due In City

A truck from the Church World Service Center at New Windsor will be in Cumberland on Monday to pick up materials for relief.

There is a need at this time for these materials to care for flood victims in Austria where the worst flood in 450 years was experienced recently. Canned foods are especially needed but must be in tins, World Service Center officials stated.

Donations of food, clothing, shoes and other materials are collected every three months and are processed at the New Windsor center for distribution in areas of greatest need in all parts of the world.

Collection centers in Cumberland are the Living Stone Church of the Brethren, Second and Cedar streets, and the First Presbyterian Church o. Washington Street. Donations may be taken to either of these centers between now and Monday morning.

Court House Will Close On Monday

The Allegany County Court House will be closed Monday in observance of Old Defenders Day, the anniversary of the defense of Baltimore during the War of 1812.

Old Defenders Day falls on Sunday, but Governor McKeldin has ordered the holiday to be observed on Monday.

However, the banks in Cumberland will be open under the provisions of the law passed in the 1953 General Assembly allowing the financial institutions to operate on minor legal holidays.

The other minor holidays banks remain open on are Columbus Day, Armistice Day, Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays and Maryland Day.

Rare Flower Blooms

Mrs. Mary Lechliter, 23 Lamont Street, reports a night-blooming cereus is in flower at her home. The plant, which is five years old, has three blooms, the owner states.

DR. ERNEST H. BETTMANN, survivor of the Dutch airliner crash in the River Shannon, Ireland, arrives in New York on a plane of the same line and tells a reporter of the disaster in which 28 died. The orthopedic surgeon, who lives in White Plains, N. Y., blamed gasoline fumes for killing many who were too shocked to get out of the plane. He praised the bravery of Helga Lowenstein, stewardess, who was among those lost.

Church Is Sponsoring Evangelistic Meetings

A series of evangelistic meetings are being held daily at Prosperity Christian Church, according to Rev. Ray Mallow, pastor. The meetings, which start at 7:45 p. m., will continue through Sunday, September 19.

Rev. W. E. Thomas, Baltimore, is the evangelist, according to the pastor, who added that singing is featured at each meeting.

Catholic War Vets To Elect Tomorrow

A meeting of Victor J. Tambolleo Post 1712, Catholic War Veterans, will be held tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Christoforo Colombo Lodge, North Mechanic Street.

James L. King, commander, has asked all members to attend as officers will be elected and pla s completed for the annual communion breakfast.

Rabbi Lists Schedule Beth Jacob Activities

A schedule of activities for Beth Jacob Congregation has been announced by Rabbi Joseph Schimelman.

Registration for new students in the Hebrew School took place yesterday; registration for Sunday School will take place Saturday, with classes scheduled to be held that day from 11 a. m. to noon. Junior Congregation services will begin Saturday at 10 a. m. and the usual Friday services at 8 p. m.

Instead of using a chamois or other cloth to polish your newly washed windows, try using newspaper, and you will be surprised at the shining results.

It's Off The Paper And Into The Air

Americans who can think of no reason why this country ought not to be first in any important new scientific advance were discouraged a few years ago when Britain led the world with jet transport aircraft. The fact that some of these Comets have come to grief does not detract from British pride in pioneering jet flight in the commercial field.

Was there an airplane-building firm in this country determined not to let any other nation do all the pioneering of jet transport? Boeing of Seattle now has a new jet in the air for test flights. It is a plane designed first of all as a flying tanker, able to accompany jet intercontinental bombers in flight. Strategically this ability to keep up with the bombers on long flights is important. More range and mobility are thus possible than with service from piston-powered tankers which, being slower, must either precede bombers from base or take off from advance bases from rendezvous.

Boeing is indulging in some blowing of its own horn these days. The company points out what it did back in 1940. "Without the assurance of an order" it invested millions in a "revolutionary new four-engine bomber design"—the B-17. Until Consolidated-Vultee came along with its Liberator, the B-17 was the main workhorse of the bombing raids on Germany.

Now this firm talks of spending more millions to prove its conviction that jet transports will supersede the prop jobs just as jets have taken over all bomber production. Boeing still cannot claim economy of operation for these fuel-eaters. But in staking its reputation on jet planes for fast passenger and cargo service, Boeing cites the jet engine's relative simplicity and freedom from vibration. This pioneer rates a salute from the nation for getting the first American jet transport into the air.

Toughening Our Youth

In two separate areas the subject is being widely discussed that our youth has grown soft. Sociologists are deeply concerned over the increase in juvenile delinquency which is indicative of a lowering of moral standards. Military authorities are studying the moral weakness of many of our soldiers in the Korean War.

No one can have all the correct answers for what seems to be a trend. For instance, vandalism in the New York schools and parks is too widespread to be ignored. Obviously there is a lack of respect for authority and for property. To what is this lack of respect to be attributed? It is not accidental because it is becoming too usual. It must be in the training, in the education, in the homelife of these children. Perhaps it is due to a total lack of ideals.

Hanson Baldwin, the military expert, once wrote a significant paragraph on this subject, referring to World War II:

"Perhaps this deficiency in determination reflects the changing spirit of our nation—the substitution of easy living for a pioneer psychology; the weakening virus of 'work less and make more'; the substitution of collective security for individual initiative. Perhaps it reflects the failure of our way of life to dramatize itself in terms of values worth fighting for—our boys fought for 'blueberry pie' and the right to go home. The Japs fought for a Shinto Valhalla—death in battle meant life in heaven. The Germans died the death of martyrdom—a Wagnerian end—to perpetuate 1,000 years of Hitlerian rule. The Russians fought for their motherland and died with some of the Oriental fatalism so peculiar to the eyes of the West.

And then he said:

". . . Most of our men fought because they were drafted and had to fight; they did no more than they had to do. They were not cowards in a collective sense; rather, they fought for no positive goal, but for a negative fear of the opinion of their fellow men."

Positive goals are ideals, lofty spiritual factors which negate the selfish criteria which usually motivate men's actions. Human beings form most of their ideals around the core of religion or nationalism. Religion includes a moral concept of life, often referred to broadly as the Natural Law. Whether one believes in a religion which insists that God revealed the moral requisites of a good life to man, or in a religion which accepts morality as an evolution in civilization, it is these aspects of religion that set the ideals of a generation.

Morality is based upon respect and responsibility. If parents are not respected, the household is anarchistic; if teachers are not respected, the school suffers from vandalism; if the clergy are not respected, murder, rape and every indecency will increase. If property is not respected, waste and degeneration set in.

Nationalism is another phase of this problem. The man who does not respect his country's flag cannot respect its laws, its customs, its traditions. He may not become a traitor, possibly because he is also a coward, but he will not place the glory of his country above his small private interests. He laughs at those who shed a tear on Memorial Day; he manages to keep out of the military services just as he manages everything in life from a strictly personal standpoint. I would say that the moral effect of the recent FHA disclosures was devastating because it shows that come good times or bad, Old Deal or New Deal, there are always smart guys who know the angles, can hire lawyers to help them to get away with anything. And young people wonder what they can get away with.

It is for this reason that I have been advocating the opening of all public gatherings, concerts, baseball, football and basketball games, and all sorts of meetings with the playing of "The Star-Spangled Banner," in peace as well as war. It provides a moment to think of nation instead of self, to stand at attention for something bigger than self. It gives pause for a little humility, a quality of which we are quite deficient.

No nation has long sustained the worship of a man. Napoleon, Hitler, Stalin, Mussolini — they went their various ways into the history books. But the ideals of religion and nationalism have shown durability even in times of confusion.

He'll Make It, One Way Or Another

Gen. "Slick" Persons Gets Promotion To Rear Admiral In Navy For Cousin

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, the well-remembered military aide of President Truman, came in for quite a bit of public ribbing by this newsman and others for pulling political wires which were none of his business. He now has a rival in the Eisenhower administration.

In fact, it begins to look as if Vaughan was a piker compared to Ike's chief military man in the White House, Gen. Wilton "Slick" Persons.

Persons recently pulled wires to get his cousin promoted to the rank of rear admiral over 355 other Navy captains who were ahead of him. To do this he exerted terrific pressure on Secretary of the Navy Charles Thomas, who was a little reluctant but finally came through.

General Persons' cousin, Capt. Henry S. Persons, graduated from Annapolis in the class of 1929. All other captains promoted this time, except one, were from the class of 1927.

Promotion to the rank of rear admiral is one of the highest honors that comes in the Navy. Only 27 men made it this year, and for a lower classman to be jumped over higher-ranking captains, thanks to a powerful cousin in the White House, has really made the Navy boiling mad.

Dutifully, however, the Navy tried to cover up. At first it issued an official statement that Captain Persons was promoted under Section 423 A, which specifies that the secretary of the navy can promote officers who have "special qualifications." But having made this explanation, the Navy took it back by virtually admitting that Captain Persons had no special qualifications. The secretary of the navy, it was stated, was simply giving incentive to younger officers to work harder.

NOTE 1—General Persons won the nickname "Slick" in wartime days when he acted as the Army's lobbyist with Congress. It was his first job to push Army legislation through Congress, and he did an A-1 job.

NOTE 2—On the other side of the ledger, General Persons was largely responsible for getting martial law invoked in Phenix City, Ala. The general's brother is governor of Alabama, and it was General Persons who applied so much pressure about crime and vice affecting adjacent military troops that Governor Persons started his cleanup of Phenix City.

General Ridgway is urging the Joint Chiefs of Staff to abandon France entirely and concentrate on Germany and Spain in building European defense against Russia. Ridgway has recommended that military aid to France be drastically cut and that the Army begin moving its billion-dollar supply lines to German an Belgian ports. . . . The British Labor delegation touring Communist China was shocked to see how sick Premier Mao Tse-Tung looks. Mao looked as if he had just gotten up from his sickbed to talk briefly with the British visitors. As a result, Clement Attlee has informed the British Foreign Office that Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai appears to be the real boss of Red China. . . . Madame Pandit is reported so fed up with the pro-Russian policy of her brother, Prime Minister Nehru, that she will leave India and live in England or the United States. Madame Pandit used to be ambassador to Washington, later became head of India's delegation to the U. N. Her brother has now replaced her with pro-Russian Krishna Memon. . . . Senator McCarthy's No. 1 pal in the State Department, Scott McLeod, is looking around for a new job. Secretary Dulles, who fired him once but reneged, is now talking about firing McLeod for keeps. However, the new undersecretary of state, Herbert Hoover Jr., may save him. He happens to be a good friend of McLeod.

Two Strange Friends

One of the strangest friendships to develop on Capitol Hill during the last session of Congress was between elder statesman Walter George of Georgia, conservative Democrat, and younger, hard-hitting Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon independent.

George is now the oldest member of the Senate in point of service, is one of its most loved and respected members, and in the past has followed a conservative policy on power questions, has generally voted for tax concessions helping big business. This session, however, he blasted the new tax bill for its loopholes favoring business and has voted against the Eisenhower atomic energy bill because of what he considered giveaways to private industry.

On both these subjects, Morse and George were on the same side.

"You have done a greater job in protecting the public on power than George Norris," Gearge told the Oregon independent. "Norris only talked about Muscle Shoals, but the battle you have put up deals with control of the future source of energy in this nation."

George went on to point out what the public doesn't realize is that in a few years 12 atomic reactors can supply all the power the entire United States will need, and that control of this power was the real question at issue in the atomic energy debate.

George and Morse got so friendly that at one time the Georgia solon made a speech about Morse in a secret Democratic caucus. As a result, Sen. Lyndon Johnson came to Morse, asked him to try to persuade George to be a member of the Senate committee censuring McCarthy.

"You have more influence with him than anyone else," Johnson told Morse.

Behind The Curtain

Reliable reports from behind the iron curtain indicate that the Kremlin is cracking down on the Russian people again.

After Stalin's death, and while the Malenkov administration was getting itself settled in the saddle, it appeased the civilian population with an abundance of little luxuries. Some of the heat was even taken off the churches while the "party line" which tells Soviet writers and musicians what they must say and play loosened up a little.

But a purge of writers and composers early this summer has now been followed by an anti-religious drive of growing proportions. The Vatican says it is "the most intense and best organized since 1930."

NOTE—Recent religious rallies in satellite countries have produced overflow crowds in apparent defiance of the Communists' anti-religious crusade, but informed sources say it's "just window dressing for the West."

Presidential Order Contrary To Desire Of Congress

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has issued an executive order which seeks to do by executive fiat what Congress has specifically refused to do by law. Government contracts each year—it's $30,000,000,000 worth this year—will be awarded not to the lowest bidders but only to those contractors and subcontractors who have agreed in advance to accept the White House regulations on employment practices as they relate to discrimination for race, religions, color or "national origin."

Although the Constitution does not give any power to a President to make laws by himself, the opportunity to circumvent the Constitution by subterfuge does exist and both Presidents Roosevelt and Truman set forth the doctrine—now being followed by President Eisenhower—that the end justifies the means.

There is, of course, nothing more reprehensible than discrimination in employment against anyone on account of race or creed or color. There are, moreover, lots of Hitlerian discriminations prevalent today in many cities in connection with the admission or rejection of persons otherwise eligible for membership in social clubs and organizations, but love for one's fellow man will never be instilled by coercion any more than fairness in dealing with the economic opportunities of all citizens in America will ever be accomplished by executive order in defiance of the lawmaking power of Congress.

Directly Specified

The White House boasts about what it has done—obviously for political campaign purposes in certain districts in the North—by the following paragraph in its statement explaining the order:

"In addition to putting the full weight of the President behind the action of the contracts committee, the executive order specifically bars discrimination because of race, religion, and national origin in upgrading, training and apprenticeship, as well as in other aspects of employment. While the clause has always been interpreted to cover all forms of discrimination, this is the first time they have been specified by action of the chief executive."

The Constitution gives Congress the power to regulate interstate commerce but no power at all to regulate commerce within the states. Without any authority from Congress, the new executive order seeks to regulate not only the employment practices of companies engaged in government work but indirectly the operations of those same companies on contracts that are not interstate at all. Once employment conditions are fixed for a plant, it cannot have two sets of employes.

For all practical purposes, therefore, the federal government now is engaged in a task of massive coercion in direct usurpation of the lawmaking power of Congress.

If the federal government, by means of the contract power, can say who shall or shall not be employed, it can some day insist that only those who join a trade union be employed or conceivably that only non-union workers be employed. The fact that a benevolent objective is at the moment being sought does not erase the opportunity for potential abuse. A government that doesn't steer by law but only by the whims of its executive is headed for dictatorship.

Unfortunately, there is no way that the executive order can be challenged successfully in the courts on constitutional grounds, for the Supreme Court of the United States has ruled, in the so-called Booth Fisheries case, that any citizen who accepts a benefit from the government through a contract may not question the constitutionality of the executive's action.

Some idea of the injustice and far-reaching nature of the power may be gleaned from the fact that the Department of the Army not long ago inserted in its contracts with certain colleges, which were preparing orientation materials for educational study groups inside the Army, a clause specifying that the government had the right to pass on the qualifications of the teachers employed by the colleges. Some institutions refused the contract and protested that they should retain the right to choose their own teachers, but other colleges needed the money and accepted the coercive order.

The federal government could, if the President desired, force Catholic colleges to employ an equal number of Protestant teachers, or it could require that Protestant colleges shall not discriminate against Catholic teachers.

There are all sorts of far-reaching implications in the new doctrine that the President may at will regulate employment practices. Employers who sell any products or services to the government must see to it that they hire an equal number of applicants from each nationality — Italians, Greeks, Germans, British, French or persons of any other "national origin"—lest they be accused of discrimination. They will have to be careful also as to how many Protestants or Catholics or Jews they employ, as well as making sure white and Negro employes are in equal proportion.

It will be recalled that during the 1952 Presidential campaign Mr. Eisenhower told audiences in the South that he did not favor a "compulsory" fair employment practices commission but believed only in a voluntary application of the principle of non-discrimination. Now, although Congress has refused to pass a law establishing a compulsory "FEPC," the President has set up his own "FEPC" covering $30,000,000,000 worth of work on government contracts, which is a substantial segment of the national economy.

There is a right way and a wrong way to get human beings to stop the uncharitable and unchristian practice of discriminating against their fellow citizens on account of race or religion or color, but it may be questioned whether coercion by executive order is the right way to achieve the goal.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

New York's Summer Carnival is about over and visitors have gone home to save up for Christmas.

It was a pretty good idea to make Manhattan a summer resort in spite of the weather.

The associated chambers of commerce whipped up the idea combining California, Florida, Switzerland, the Riviera and Canada in one catalogue. It made nice reading.

The Hayden Planetarium was a popular place for tourists with weak ankles, adjustable necks and short breaths. The lecture was a nice 15-minute nap with the Venetian blinds nailed down.

This has been such a successful idea the mayor is going to make it a centennial affair.

The Museum of the American Indian got a big play from Cherokees, Apaches, Wyandottes and Iroquois who always wondered what had happened to them. It was free on Wednesdays to the people who once owned the whole works.

The Museum of Natural History was a neat place to frighten the children. It had curb service for stout tourists whose shoelaces became untied.

The Cloisters were well patronized by lovers of busted statuary. It looks like the backyard of a Trenton porcelain factory. Probably the toughest place to crash is the Morgan Library on 36th Street. We got in by carrying the hose for the exterminator man. The distance is just as far in the shorter taxicabs.

Sharp Decline Unlikely

By Central Press

WASHINGTON — Farm experts do not anticipate any sharp drop in farm income next year as a result of the flexible price support plan, which now has become law.

Actually, farm acreage curtailment aimed at getting production of big staple crops down to controllable proportions is expected to have a greater impact on farm income than reduction in support levels.

Agriculture Department experts say that although under the new law Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson can cut support of basic crops down to 82.5 per cent of parity, only wheat is to be reduced to that figure.

Cotton still will be supported at 90 per cent. Supports on corn, peanuts and rice will be 85 per cent or higher. Parity, of course, means a comparison of farm prices received to the prices which farmers must pay to operate their farms.

Sugar Coating

"How times have changed" is one of the themes which the federal-suported Smithsonian Institution will emphasize in its exhibits this autumn.

It will display an old copper pan and pitcher which were used to manufacture the first mass-produced sugar-coated pills in the United States—back in 1856. One thousand pills could be coated at one time through that equipment.

Today, the Smithsonian reports, pharmaceutical firms use giant rotating drums for sugar-coating pills. They do the job on several hundred thousand pills at one time.

The Big One

Air Force officials are reluctant to talk about the progress on the development of the new B-58 heavy bomber, but reports from the builder—Convair—show plans are moving ahead at a rapid pace.

The long-range bomber, known in Air Force circles as the Big One, will be the first American heavy bomber designed for supersonic speeds.

It is expected to be the fastest and highest flying plane in the world with a range that will allow it to fly anywhere in the world and return without refueling.

With such speed, the bomber is believed to be immune to most fighter plane and anti-aircraft fire. Experts say that only electronically-controlled guided missiles would be effective against the speedy plane.

Economic, Political Differences

Few political slogans have emerged from the 83rd Congress, but there is a likelihood that somebody may come up with one during the pre-election campaign.

During the two-week filibuster in the Senate on the Atomic Energy Bill, the Democrats repeatedly used the word "giveaway" to describe some features of the measure. Actually, the term may be a misnomer. It stems largely from a difference in economic and political philosophy.

The administration feels that atomic plants should take over ventures which can properly be shifted from government control.

Many Democrats, however, contend that the government spent billions of dollars to develop atomic energy and that the administration proposal means taxpayers will get no return on these discoveries.

It remains to be seen whether the voters will agree with Democrats that this is a "giveaway."

Radioisotopes Latest Tool To Diagnose Brain Tumor

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Symptoms of brain tumor are evasive because they resemble so many other conditions. Headache is an example. When it first develops, more likely possibilities are sinusitis, nervousness, eyestrain, or migraine.

During the first few weeks, the victim resorts to aspirin or other pain killer. Further delay takes place when the physician digs into his bag of tricks to relieve the sufferer's distress. Should symptoms persist or become progressively worse the chance of brain tumor as the origin of headache becomes greater. From this point on, diagnosis is not difficult because we now have a battery of reliable tests for this purpose.

Other symptoms of brain tumor include convulsions, which are due to irritation, and may be the initial and only complaint in adults. Disturbances of vision, hearing, smell, and taste also occur.

Occasionally brain tumor is suggested when changes in personality are noted. A placid man or woman suddenly may become irritable and mean; others are fearful, anxious, nervous, or moody. Paralysis also ensues. Late manifestations depend upon the location of the tumor and the structures that are pressed upon by the growth. Nausea, vomiting, drowsiness, and loss of vision are not unusual at this stage.

Additional clues are obtained by the physician during examination. Weakness of certain muscles, changes in reflexes, and disturbances in walking or maintaining balance are significant. Some of the most important pointers are obtained by looking into the eyes. There are a variety of ways in which tumors are demonstrated with X-ray. Air or special solutions can be injected into the ventricles of the brain to afford contrast media.

Radioisotopes are the latest diagnostic tools. These substances are made radioactive in the cyclotron and give off rays that are measured with a geiger counter. When certain chemicals are injected or taken internally they concentrate in brain tumor tissue.

Radioisotopes help not only to diagnose but to localize the brain tumor. The results reveal whether the lesion is on the right or left side, or in front or back of the brain. Redioactive materials most frequently used are diiodofluroescein (RDIF), phosphorus (P32), potassium (K-42), and iodinated human serum albumin (RIHSA). The latter is 90 per cent accurate.

There are many types of brain tumors. The majority are not cancerous but are almost as dangerous because the brain is confined within a bony cage that does not stretch. A growing tumor damages brain tissue when the cranium refuses to bulge. Surgery offers the only hope of cure.

Her entrance was a sensation: at the moment of being plugged in, the costume short-circuited

It's Off The Paper And Into The Air

Americans who can think of no reason why this country ought not to be first in any important new scientific advance were discouraged a few years ago when Britain led the world with jet transport aircraft. The fact that some of these Comets have come to grief does not detract from British pride in pioneering jet flight in the commercial field.

Was there an airplane-building firm in this country determined not to let any other nation do all the pioneering of jet transport? Boeing of Seattle now has a new jet in the air for test flights. It is a plane designed first of all as a flying tanker, able to accompany jet intercontinental bombers in flight. Strategically this ability to keep up with the bombers on long flights is important. More range and mobility are thus possible than with service from piston-powered tankers which, being slower, must either precede bombers from base or take off from advance bases from rendezvous.

Boeing is indulging in some blowing of its own horn these days. The company points out what it did back in 1940. "Without the assurance of an order" it invested millions in a "revolutionary new four-engine bomber design"—the B-17. Until Consolidated-Vultee came along with its Liberator, the B-17 was the main workhorse of the bombing raids on Germany.

Now this firm talks of spending more millions to prove its conviction that jet transports will supersede the prop jobs just as jets have taken over all bomber production. Boeing still cannot claim economy of operation for these fuel-eaters. But in staking its reputation on jet planes for fast passenger and cargo service, Boeing cites the jet engine's relative simplicity and freedom from vibration. This pioneer rates a salute from the nation for getting the first American jet transport into the air.

Toughening Our Youth

In two separate areas the subject is being widely discussed that our youth has grown soft. Sociologists are deeply concerned over the increase in juvenile delinquency which is indicative of a lowering of moral standards. Military authorities are studying the moral weakness of many of our soldiers in the Korean War.

No one can have all the correct answers for what seems to be a trend. For instance, vandalism in the New York schools and parks is too widespread to be ignored. Obviously there is a lack of respect for authority and for property. To what is this lack of respect to be attributed? It is not accidental because it is becoming too usual. It must be in the training, in the education, in the homelife of these children. Perhaps it is due to a total lack of ideals.

Hanson Baldwin, the military expert, once wrote a significant paragraph on this subject, referring to World War II:

"Perhaps this deficiency in determination reflects the changing spirit of our nation—the substitution of easy living for a pioneer psychology; the weakening virus of 'work less and make more'; the substitution of collective security for individual initiative. Perhaps it reflects the failure of our way of life to dramatize itself in terms of values worth fighting for—our boys fought for 'blueberry pie' and the right to go home. The Japs fought for a Shinto Valhalla—death in battle meant life in heaven. The Germans died the death of martyrdom—a Wagnerian end—to perpetuate 1,000 years of Hitlerian rule. The Russians fought for their motherland and died with some of the Oriental fatalism so peculiar to the eyes of the West.

And then he said:

". . . Most of our men fought because they were drafted and had to fight; they did no more than they had to do. They were not cowards in a collective sense; rather, they fought for no positive goal, but for a negative fear of the opinion of their fellow men."

Positive goals are ideals, lofty spiritual factors which negate the selfish criteria which usually motivate men's actions. Human beings form most of their ideals around the core of religion or nationalism. Religion includes a moral concept of life, often referred to broadly as the Natural Law. Whether one believes in a religion which insists that God revealed the moral requisites of a good life to man, or in a religion which accepts morality as an evolution in civilization, it is these aspects of religion that set the ideals of a generation.

Morality is based upon respect and responsibility. If parents are not respected, the household is anarchistic; if teachers are not respected, the school suffers from vandalism; if the clergy are not respected, murder, rape and every indecency will increase. If property is not respected, waste and degeneration set in.

Nationalism is another phase of this problem. The man who does not respect his country's flag cannot respect its laws, its customs, its traditions. He may not become a traitor, possibly because he is also a coward, but he will not place the glory of his country above his small private interests. He laughs at those who shed a tear on Memorial Day; he manages to keep out of the military services just as he manages everything in life from a strictly personal standpoint. I would say that the moral effect of the recent FHA disclosures was devastating because it shows that come good times or bad, Old Deal or New Deal, there are always smart guys who know the angles, can hire lawyers to help them to get away with anything. And young people wonder what they can get away with.

It is for this reason that I have been advocating the opening of all public gatherings, concerts, baseball, football and basketball games, and all sorts of meetings with the playing of "The Star-Spangled Banner," in peace as well as war. It provides a moment to think of nation instead of self, to stand at attention for something bigger than self. It gives pause for a little humility, a quality of which we are quite deficient.

No nation has long sustained the worship of a man. Napoleon, Hitler, Stalin, Mussolini — they went their various ways into the history books. But the ideals of religion and nationalism have shown durability even in times of confusion.

He'll Make It, One Way Or Another

Presidential Order Contrary To Desire Of Congress

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has issued an executive order which seeks to do by executive fiat what Congress has specifically refused to do by law. Government contracts each year—it's $30,000,000,000 worth this year—will be awarded not to the lowest bidders but only to those contractors and subcontractors who have agreed in advance to accept the White House regulations on employment practices as they relate to discrimination for race, religions, color or "national origin."

Although the Constitution does not give any power to a President to make laws by himself, the opportunity to circumvent the Constitution by subterfuge does exist and both Presidents Roosevelt and Truman set forth the doctrine—now being followed by President Eisenhower—that the end justifies the means.

There is, of course, nothing more reprehensible than discrimination in employment against anyone on account of race or creed or color. There are, moreover, lots of Hitlerian discriminations prevalent today in many cities in connection with the admission or rejection of persons otherwise eligible for membership in social clubs and organizations, but love for one's fellow man will never be instilled by coercion any more than fairness in dealing with the economic opportunities of all citizens in America will ever be accomplished by executive order in defiance of the law-making power of Congress.

Directly Specified

The White House boasts about what it has done—obviously for political campaign purposes in certain districts in the North—by the following paragraph in its statement explaining the order:

"In addition to putting the full weight of the President behind the action of the contracts committee, the executive order specifically bars discrimination because of race, religion, and national origin in upgrading, training and apprenticeship, as well as in other aspects of employment. While the clause has always been interpreted to cover all forms of discrimination, this is the first time they have been specified by action of the chief executive."

The Constitution gives Congress the power to regulate interstate commerce but no power at all to regulate commerce within the states. Without any authority from Congress, the new executive order seeks to regulate not only the employment practices of companies engaged in government work but indirectly the operations of those same companies on contracts that are not interstate at all. Once employment conditions are fixed for a plant, it cannot have two sets of employes.

For all practical purposes, therefore, the federal government now is engaged in a task of massive coercion in direct usurpation of the lawmaking power of Congress.

If the federal government, by means of the contract power, can say who shall or shall not be employed, it can some day insist that only those who join a trade union be employed or conceivably that only non-union workers be employed. The fact that a benevolent objective is at the moment being sought does not erase the opportunity for potential abuse. A government that doesn't steer by law but only by the whims of its executive is headed for dictatorship.

Unfortunately, there is no way that the executive order can be challenged successfully in the courts on constitutional grounds, for the Supreme Court of the United States has ruled, in the so-called Booth Fisheries case, that any citizen who accepts a benefit from the government through a contract may not question the constitutionality of the executive's action.

Some idea of the injustice and far-reaching nature of the power may be gleaned from the fact that the Department of the Army not long ago inserted in its contracts with certain colleges, which were preparing orientation materials for educational study groups inside the Army, a clause specifying that the government had the right to pass on the qualifications of the teachers employed by the colleges. Some institutions refused the contract and protested that they should retain the right to choose their own teachers, but other colleges needed the money and accepted the coercive order.

The federal government could, if the President desired, force Catholic colleges to employ an equal number of Protestant teachers, or it could require that Protestant colleges shall not discriminate against Catholic teachers.

There are all sorts of far-reaching implications in the new doctrine that the President may at will regulate employment practices. Employers who sell any products or services to the government must see to it that they hire an equal number of applicants from each nationality — Italians, Greeks, Germans, British, French or persons of any other "national origin"—lest they be accused of discrimination. They will have to be careful also as to how many Protestants or Catholics or Jews they employ, as well as making sure white and Negro employes are in equal proportion.

It will be recalled that during the 1952 Presidential campaign Mr. Eisenhower told audiences in the South that he did not favor a "compulsory" fair employment practices commission but believed only in a voluntary application of the principle of non-discrimination. Now, although Congress has refused to pass a law establishing a compulsory "FEPC," the President has set up his own "FEPC" covering $30,000,000,000 worth of work on government contracts, which is a substantial segment of the national economy.

There is a right way and a wrong way to get human beings to stop the uncharitable and unchristian practice of discriminating against their fellow citizens on account of race or religion or color, but it may be questioned whether coercion by executive order is the right way to achieve the goal.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

New York's Summer Carnival is about over and visitors have gone home to save up for Christmas.

It was a pretty good idea to make Manhattan a summer resort in spite of the weather.

The associated chambers of commerce whipped up the idea combining California, Florida, Switzerland, the Riviera and Canada in one catalogue. It made nice reading.

The Hayden Planetarium was a popular place for tourists with weak ankles, adjustable necks and short breaths. The lecture was a nice 15-minute nap with the Venetian blinds nailed down.

This has been such a successful idea the mayor is going to make it a centennial affair.

The Museum of the American Indian got a big play from Cherokees, Apaches, Wyandottes and Iroquois who always wondered what had happened to them. It was free on Wednesdays to the people who once owned the whole works.

The Museum of Natural History was a neat place to frighten the children. It had curb service for stout tourists whose shoelaces became untied.

The Cloisters were well patronized by lovers of busted statuary. It looks like the backyard of a Trenton porcelain factory. Probably the toughest place to crash is the Morgan Library on 36th Street. We got in by carrying the hose for the exterminator man. The distance is just as far in the shorter taxicabs.

Gen. "Slick" Persons Gets Promotion To Rear Admiral In Navy For Cousin

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, the well-remembered military aide of President Truman, came in for quite a bit of public ribbing by this newsman and others for pulling political wires which were none of his business. He now has a rival in the Eisenhower administration.

In fact, it begins to look as if Vaughan was a piker compared to Ike's chief military man in the White House, Gen. Wilton "Slick" Persons.

Persons recently pulled wires to get his cousin promoted to the rank of rear admiral over 355 other Navy captains who were ahead of him. To do this he exerted terrific pressure on Secretary of the Navy Charles Thomas, who was a little reluctant but finally came through.

General Persons' cousin, Capt. Henry S. Persons, graduated from Annapolis in the class of 1929. All other captains promoted this time, except one, were from the class of 1927.

Promotion to the rank of rear admiral is one of the highest honors that comes in the Navy. Only 27 men made it this year, and for a lower classman to be jumped over higher-ranking captains, thanks to a powerful cousin in the White House, has really made the Navy boiling mad.

Dutifully, however, the Navy tried to cover up. At first it issued an official statement that Captain Persons was promoted under Section 423 A, which specifies that the secretary of the navy can promote officers who have "special qualifications." But having made this explanation, the Navy took it back by virtually admitting that Captain Persons had no special qualifications. The secretary of the navy, it was stated, was simply giving incentive to younger officers to work harder.

NOTE 1—General Persons won the nickname "Slick" in wartime days when he acted as the Army's lobbyist with Congress. It was his first job to push Army legislation through Congress, and he did an A-1 job.

NOTE 2—On the other side of the ledger, General Persons was largely responsible for getting martial law invoked in Phenix City, Ala. The general's brother is governor of Alabama, and it was General Persons who applied so much pressure about crime and vice affecting adjacent military troops that Governor Persons started his cleanup of Phenix City.

Washington Pipeline

General Ridgway is urging the Joint Chiefs of Staff to abandon France entirely and concentrate on Germany and Spain in building European defense against Russia. Ridgway has recommended that military aid to France be drastically cut and that the Army begin moving its billion-dollar supply lines to German an Belgian ports. . . . The British Labor delegation touring Communist China was shocked to see how sick Premier Mao Tse-Tung looks. Mao looked as if he had just gotten up from his sickbed to talk briefly with the British visitors. As a result, Clement Attlee has informed the British Foreign Office that Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai appears to be the real boss of Red China. . . . Madame Pandit is reported so fed up with the pro-Russian policy of her brother, Prime Minister Nehru, that she will leave India and live in England or the United States. Madame Pandit used to be ambassador to Washington, later became head of India's delegation to the U. N. Her brother has now replaced her with pro-Russian Krishna Memon. . . . Senator McCarthy's No. 1 pal in the State Department, Scott McLeod, is looking around for a new job. Secretary Dulles, who fired him once but reneged, is now talking about firing McLeod for keeps. However, the new undersecretary of state, Herbert Hoover Jr., may save him. He happens to be a good friend of McLeod.

Two Strange Friends

One of the strangest friendships to develop on Capitol Hill during the last session of Congress was between elder statesman Walter George of Georgia, conservative Democrat, and younger, hard-hitting Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon independent.

George is now the oldest member of the Senate in point of service, is one of its most loved and respected members, and in the past has followed a conservative policy on power questions, has generally voted for tax concessions helping big business. This session, however, he blasted the new tax bill for its loopholes favoring business and has voted against the Eisenhower atomic energy bill because of what he considered giveaways to private industry.

On both these subjects, Morse and George were on the same side.

"You have done a greater job in protecting the public on power than George Norris," Gearge told the Oregon independent. "Norris only talked about Muscle Shoals, but the battle you have put up deals with control of the future source of energy in this nation."

George went on to point out what the public doesn't realize is that in a few years 12 atomic reactors can supply all the power the entire United States will need, and that control of this power was the real question at issue in the atomic energy debate.

George and Morse got so friendly that at one time the Georgia solon made a speech about Morse in a secret Democratic caucus. As a result, Sen. Lyndon Johnson came to Morse, asked him to try to persuade George to be a member of the Senate committee censuring McCarthy.

"You have more influence with him than anyone else," Johnson told Morse.

Behind The Curtain

Reliable reports from behind the iron curtain indicate that the Kremlin is cracking down on the Russian people again.

After Stalin's death, and while the Malenkov administration was getting itself settled in the saddle, it appeased the civilian population with an abundance of little luxuries. Some of the heat was even taken off the churches while the "party line" which tells Soviet writers and musicians what they must say and play loosened up a little.

But a purge of writers and composers early this summer has now been followed by an anti-religious drive of growing proportions. The Vatican says it is "the most intense and best organized since 1930."

NOTE—Recent religious rallies in satellite countries have produced overflow crowds in apparent defiance of the Communists' anti-religious crusade, but informed sources say it's "just window dressing for the West."

Sharp Decline Unlikely

By Central Press

WASHINGTON — Farm experts do not anticipate any sharp drop in farm income next year as a result of the flexible price support plan, which now has become law.

Actually, farm acreage curtailment aimed at getting production of big staple crops down to controllable proportions is expected to have a greater impact on farm income than reduction in support levels.

Agriculture Department experts say that although under the new law Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson can cut support of basic crops down to 82.5 per cent of parity, only wheat is to be reduced to that figure.

Cotton still will be supported at 90 per cent. Supports on corn, peanuts and rice will be 85 per cent or higher. Parity, of course, means a comparison of farm prices received to the prices which farmers must pay to operate their farms.

Sugar Coating

"How times have changed" is one of the themes which the federal-suported Smithsonian Institution will emphasize in its exhibits this autumn.

It will display an old copper pan and pitcher which were used to manufacture the first mass-produced sugar-coated pills in the United States—back in 1856. One thousand pills could be coated at one time through that equipment.

Today, the Smithsonian reports, pharmaceutical firms use giant rotating drums for sugar-coating pills. They do the job on several hundred thousand pills at one time.

The Big One

Air Force officials are reluctant to talk about the progress on the development of the new B-58 heavy bomber, but reports from the builder—Convair—show plans are moving ahead at a rapid pace.

The long-range bomber, known in Air Force circles as the Big One, will be the first American heavy bomber designed for supersonic speeds.

It is expected to be the fastest and highest flying plane in the world with a range that will allow it to fly anywhere in the world and return without refueling.

With such speed, the bomber is believed to be immune to most fighter plane and anti-aircraft fire. Experts say that only electronically-controlled guided missiles would be effective against the speedy plane.

Economic, Political Differences

Few political slogans have emerged from the 83rd Congress, but there is a likelihood that somebody may come up with one during the pre-election campaign.

During the two-week filibuster in the Senate on the Atomic Energy Bill, the Democrats repeatedly used the word "giveaway" to describe some features of the measure. Actually, the term may be a misnomer. It stems largely from a difference in economic and political philosophy.

The administration feels that atomic plants should take over ventures which can properly be shifted from government control.

Many Democrats, however, contend that the government spent billions of dollars to develop atomic energy and that the administration proposal means taxpayers will get no return on these discoveries.

Radioisotopes Latest Tool To Diagnose Brain Tumor

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Symptoms of brain tumor are evasive because they resemble so many other conditions. Headache is an example. When it first develops, more likely possibilities are sinusitis, nervousness, eyestrain, or migraine.

During the first few weeks, the victim resorts to aspirin or other pain killer. Further delay takes place when the physician digs into his bag of tricks to relieve the sufferer's distress. Should symptoms persist or become progressively worse the chance of brain tumor as the origin of headache becomes greater. From this point on, diagnosis is not difficult because we now have a battery of reliable tests for this purpose.

Other symptoms of brain tumor include convulsions, which are due to irritation, and may be the initial and only complaint in adults. Disturbances of vision, hearing, smell, and taste also occur.

Occasionally brain tumor is suggested when changes in personality are noted. A placid man or woman suddenly may become irritable and mean; others are fearful, anxious, nervous, or moody. Paralysis also ensues. Late manifestations depend upon the location of the tumor and the structures that are pressed upon by the growth. Nausea, vomiting, drowsiness, and loss of vision are not unusual at this stage.

Additional clues are obtained by the physician during examination. Weakness of certain muscles, changes in reflexes, and disturbances in walking or maintaining balance are significant. Some of the most important pointers are obtained by looking into the eyes. There are a variety of ways in which tumors are demonstrated with X-ray. Air or special solutions can be injected into the ventricles of the brain to afford contrast media.

Radioisotopes are the latest diagnostic tools. These substances are made radioactive in the cyclotron and give off rays that are measured with a geiger counter. When certain chemicals are injected or taken internally they concentrate in brain tumor tissue.

Radioisotopes help not only to diagnose but to localize the brain tumor. The results reveal whether the lesion is on the right or left side, or in front or back of the brain. Redioactive materials most frequently used are diiodofluroescein (RDIF), phosphorus (P32), potassium (K-42), and iodinated human serum albumin (RIHSA). The latter is 90 per cent accurate.

There are many types of brain tumors. The majority are not cancerous but are almost as dangerous because the brain is confined within a bony cage that does not stretch. A growing tumor damages brain tissue when the cranium refuses to bulge. Surgery offers the only hope of cure.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 8 (INS) — Somerset Maugham's fascinating story of "The Moon and Sixpence" is one of my favorites, although the motion picture version left much to be desired. The story is based on the life of Paul Gauguin, the artist who left his wife and children to live among the natives of the South Seas. Now the autobiography of Gauguin, "Noa Noa," will be filmed with the aid of his son, Emile Gauguin.

Gauguin fought shy of the life set down by his wife, and his best work was done on the islands. His influence on modern art was far reaching and such artists as Toulouse Lautrec and Van Gogh were inspired by Gauguin.

The well-known director, Irving Rapper, is directing "Noa Noa," with Jerry Sherman as producer.

Buddy Adler planed into New York from Paris today after getting the "go" sign from Darryl Zanuck for three of 20th's most important pictures. Looks as if Buddy is the white-haired boy since Sol Siegel joined Paramount.

Buddy brings back with him approval of "Violent Saturday" by William L. Heath, which was bought from the galley proofs. It's the exciting story of a small town robbery and the effect it has on the lives of the citizens.

He also made arrangements for "Left Hand of God," starring Gregory Peck, and "Soldier of Fortune," with Clark Gable as head man.

When Jack Webb came to see me I was happy to be able to tell him I'd seen "Dragnet" and could well understand why it has the fans standing in line at the local boxoffice.

"It's a real thriller," I told him. "And I particularly liked the way you minimized the use of make-up. It made the story seem more authentic."

Jack said that he was busy doing research for "Pete Kelley's Blues," which he'll also make for Warner Brothers. Jack Warner wants it to get going right away. No wonder, with the public clamoring for more now that "Dragnet" is such a success.

You can make a bet that the letter Andrea Leeds and Bob Howard just received from President Eisenhower will be framed in a prominent spot in Howard Manor, their Palm Springs hotel.

The letter from the Chief Executive is in thanks for the "tee" to the city of Palm Springs, a solid gold and made so it actually can be used on the golf links. It was sent by the Howards to the President as a substitute for the conventional key to the city.

The President wrote: "Mrs. Eisenhower and I truly enjoyed our visit to your lovely town and we hope some day to be able to repeat the experience. My sincere appreciation for your thoughtful and unique gesture sending me a 'tee' to Palm Springs."

Marilyn Morrison, happy and gayer than I have ever heard her, tells me that Johnnie Ray will be gone only eight days in Australia. She spent two hours with him while he was waiting for his plane.

"Are you going back to Johnnie?" I asked her.

"We are happy this way," said the ex-Mrs. Ray. "I like him better than anyone and I know he likes me.

"Just think, Johnnie played eight shows at the Steel Pier in Atlantic City. Isn't that a record?" asked the proud Marilyn.

She will meet him when he comes back from Australia.

Abbe Lane is a sensation in Europe shaking her, er — maracas with Xavier Cugat's band. Apparently, she's made just as big a hit with Movie Producer Sam Weisenthal.

Weisenthal, who signed the Brooklyn girl who looks like a Latin for "The Americano" at RKO, likes Abbe so well on the screen that he has a second picture for her, "Salt River," by Frank Gruber.

Well, Abbe is plenty salty, and if Cugat would permit it — which my money says he won't — RKO would be glad to have Abbe on a long term contract.

Same night Donald O'Connor celebrated his birthday with his pal Sidney Miller and Carmelita Lopez and Mira Miamira. John Carroll gave the boys plenty of interference hopping from his bachelor table every second.

Theda Bara's fourth operation was postponed until this past weekend in order to give her time to gain some strength.

Congratulations to Jimmy Stewart, a full fledged colonel in the Air Force in World War II. He's just received a plaque from the Air Force Association for his contribution to air power. The gift came from General Jimmy Doolittle and other top figures.

Big Boy Williams, whose horses used to be his greatest hobby, has traded in his ranch in Encinitas for a hotel in Needles, and he's doing right well.

It's just a rumor, but somebody who should know says that Colette, the French novelist, left some valuable jewelry to Audrey Hepburn, who starred in her play "Gigi."

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 8 (INS) — Somerset Maugham's fascinating story of "The Moon and Sixpence" is one of my favorites, although the motion picture version left much to be desired. The story is based on the life of Paul Gauguin, the artist who left his wife and children to live among the natives of the South Seas. Now the autobiography of Gauguin, "Noa Noa," will be filmed with the aid of his son, Emile Gauguin.

Gauguin fought shy of the life set down by his wife, and his best work was done on the islands. His influence on modern art was far reaching and such artists as Toulouse Lautrec and Van Gogh were inspired by Gauguin.

The well-known director, Irving Rapper, is directing "Noa Noa," with Jerry Sherman as producer.

Buddy Adler planed into New York from Paris today after getting the "go" sign from Darryl Zanuck for three of 20th's most important pictures. Looks as if Buddy is the white-hairer boy since Sol Siegel joined Paramount.

Buddy brings back with him approval of "Violent Saturday" by William L. Heath, which was bought from the galley proofs. It's the exciting story of a small town robbery and the effect it has on the lives of the citizens.

He also made arrangements for "Left Hand of God," starring Gregory Peck, and "Soldier of Fortune," with Clark Gable as head man.

When Jack Webb came to see me I was happy to be able to tell him I'd seen "Dragnet" and could well understand why it has the fans standing in line at the local boxoffice.

"It's a real thriller," I told him. "And I particularly liked the way you minimized the use of make-up. It made the story seem more authentic."

Jack said that he was busy doing research for "Pete Kelley's Blues," which he'll also make for Warner Brothers. Jack Warner wants it to get going right away. No wonder, with the public clamoring for more now that "Dragnet" is such a success.

You can make a bet that the letter Andrea Leeds and Bob Howard just received from President Eisenhower will be framed in a prominent spot in Howard Manor, their Palm Springs hotel.

The letter from the Chief Executive is in thanks for the "tee" to the city of Palm Springs, a solid gold and made so it actually can be used on the golf links. It was sen. by the Howards to the President as a substitute for the conventional key to the city.

The President wrote: "Mrs. Eisenhower and I truly enjoyed our visit to your lovely town and we hope some day to be able to repeat the experience. My sincere appreciation for your thoughtful and unique gesture sending me a 'tee' to Palm Springs."

Marilyn Morrison, happy and gayer than I have ever heard her, tells me that Johnnie Ray will be gone only eight days in Australia. She spent two hours with him while he was waiting for his plane.

"Are you going back to Johnnie?" I asked her.

"We are happy this way," said the ex-Mrs. Ray. "I like him better than anyone and I know he likes me.

"Just think, Johnnie played eight shows at the Steel Pier in Atlantic City. Isn't that a record?" asked the proud Marilyn.

She will meet him when he comes back from Australia.

Abbe Lane is a sensation in Europe shaking her, er — maracas with Xavier Cugat's band. Apparently, she's made just as big a hit with Movie Producer Sam Weisenthal.

Weisenthal, who signed the Brooklyn girl who looks like a Latin for "The Americano" at RKO, likes Abbe so well on the screen that he has a second picture for her, "Salt River," by Frank Gruber.

Well, Abbe is plenty salty, and if Cugat would permit it — which my money says he won't — RKO would be glad to have Abbe on a long term contract.

Same night Donald O'Connor celebrated his birthday with his pal Sidney Miller and Carmelita Lopez and Mira Miamira. John Carroll gave the boys plenty of interference hopping from his bachelor table every second.

Theda Bara's fourth operation was postponed until this past weekend in order to give her time to gain some strength.

Congratulations to Jimmy Stewart, a full fledged colonel in the Air Force in World War II. He's just received a plaque from the Air Force Association for his contribution to air power. The gift came from General Jimmy Doolittle and other top figures.

Big Boy Williams, whose horses used to be his greatest hobby, has traded in his ranch in Encinitas for a hotel in Needles, and he's doing right well.

All of Dorothy Lamour's pals have reservations tomorrow night for her opening at Ciro's.

It's just a rumor, but somebody who should know says that Colette, the French novelist, left some valuable jewelry to Audrey Hepburn, who starred in her play "Gigi."

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Piedmont Council Orders Bathing Pool Reopened

Staff To Operate On Weekend Schedule

PIEDMONT — The Piedmont swimming pool which was officially closed on Labor Day evening for the season will be reopened for Saturdays and Sundays during the remainder of the month. It was ordered at the regular meeting of Mayor Allan L. Hill and City Council Tuesday evening that the staff which operated the pool during the summer will operate it on these days if the weather permits. No concessions will be conducted on these days.

Mayor Hill reported that the city netted a gross profit from concessions during the summer of $323.75.

Connie Harvey had requested permission to operate the pool in the late afternoon and early evenings on a fifty-fifty profit basis but it was agreed to run it only on Saturdays and Sundays and let those employed all summer be in charge.

Mayor Hill reported that $248.17 had been collected in parking meters and fines in violations of them during the past three weeks as follows: August 23, parking lot, $15.35; street parking meters, $59.69; fines $3.50; August 30, parking lot, $14.63; street, $60.07; fines, $5.25; September 7, parking lot, $17.05; street, $63.88 and fines $8.75.

The bid of Arnold C. Clark, Westernport for $462.90 for roofing the City Building and repairing the ceiling of the storeroom of Arthur Peters a tenant of the building was accepted. He expects to start work about the middle of next week.

Two applications for police work were read by Mayor Hill. One is from Gene F. Keyes, Orchard Street. He is employed as an extra man in the street department. He formerly served in the army. The other is from John L. Dye, 78 Second Street, World War II veteran of the Navy and a former city policeman in Keyser.

The Piedmont Womans Club asked the mayor or a councilman to participate in a tree planting ceremony on the lawn of the Piedmont High School Tuesday, September 14. It will be a part of the convention of the Eastern District Federation of Womens Club to take place on that day. It was decided a city representative would attend.

Councilman Norman Baughman stated he had a complaint relative to noise at the Eagle's Club on Sunday evenings. Councilman Joseph Maybury said there were complaints about noises on Ashfield Street, after places of business had closed late in the evening. The police were instructed to check on these complaints.

Councilman Joseph Maybury stated that Martin Weakley has asked him if something could not be done about parking on East Hampshire Street.

Traffic has increased considerably since work has begun on the Westernport-McCoole Road.

CHARLES BUSKIRK

Charles Buskirk Seeks Election To Md. House

FROSTBURG—A statement was issued yesterday by Charles (Chili) Buskirk, Democratic candidate for House of Delegates in connection with his seeking public office.

A life-long resident of Allegany County, he is a son of Janet Buskirk and the late John J. Buskirk, RD 1, Frostburg.

For 17 years he was employed at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America. He was a committeeman of Local 1874, Textile Workers of America (CIO), in the Textile Department. Buskirk served three years in the Army and saw service in Europe and the Pacific during World War II and was discharged with a master sergeant's rating.

Buskirk said the issues in which he is most interested include a more adequate unemployment compensation program, more schools and better pay for teachers, more state hospitals and mental institutions, a veterans bonus which should not be financed by additional taxes on real estate or alcoholic beverages, more state aid for volunteer fire companies and more road-building in the county with local labor being used.

If elected, Buskirk said he will treat these problems with maturity and the consideration they require.

91-Year-Old Man Injured By Auto Truck

Legs Broken When Pinned Against Wall

PARSONS—Martin Bonner, 91, of Elk, Tucker County was admitted to the Tucker County Hospital in Parsons on Sunday afternoon after being injured. Trooper James Rightmire of the Thomas State Police detachment who investigated the accident said Bonner was standing close to a parked truck, off the highway at the building known as the Ad Harper Store, 13 miles Southeast of Parsons at Elk.

Legs Broken When Pinned Against Wall

PARSONS—Martin Bonner, 91 of Elk, Tucker County was admitted to the Tucker County Hospital in Parsons on Sunday afternoon after being injured. Trooper James Rightmire of the Thomas State Police detachment who investigated the accident said Bonner was standing close to a parked truck, off the highway at the building known as the Ad Harper Store, 13 miles Southeast of Parsons at Elk.

His 16-year-old granddaughter had apparently started the truck and let the clutch out making the truck lurch forward about four or five feet. The right front of the truck struck Mr. Bonner and pinned him against the store porch, fracturing both legs. He received a fracture of the left leg above the knee and a fracture of the right leg at the hip line.

This is the second misfortune to hit Mr. Bonner in the past few months. In May, his large frame house at Elk was destroyed by fire.

Schute's Roofers, City League champions, got away to a good start in the annual Western Maryland Softball Tournament last night by defeating Romig's Drug Store, of Keyser, W. Va., in an opening round game at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 4-0.

Ray Taylor outpitched Keyser's Rhodes in a game that was played in the fast time of 55 minutes. Taylor yielded only three hits, including triples by Broadwater and Ambrose, but the visitors were unable to score on the Roofers' ace.

The fielding highlight was provided by Pitcher Rhodes who made a nifty diving catch of a bunt.

The Schute's-Romig's game was the second on the program of three last night.

Four homers were among Corriganville's collection of hits. "Red" Whitman garnered three hits, including two homers, B. Three Runs In Final Frame Bring 6-5 Win

BROOKLYN, Sept. 8 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals swept from behind with three runs in the ninth inning tonight and edged Brooklyn 6-5, shoving the third-place Dodgers six games behind the league-leading New York Giants.

A walk, a force play and then three straight hits brought Brooklyn's downfall in the ninth after the Dodgers had pulled into a 5-3 lead in the eighth.

Duke Snider slammed two home runs, his 35th and 36th, for Brooklyn.

Solly Hemus opened the Cardinal ninth by drawing a walk off Carl Erskine. Stan Musial forced him at second but Ray Jablonski doubled to the centerfield wall and Manager Walt Alston switched from Erskine to Jim Hughes.

Rookie Joe Cunningham slammed a double over the head of left fielder Sandy Amoros, scoring Musial and pinch runner Dick Schofield with the tieing runs, and Rip Repulski drilled his third single of the night into center field to bring home Cunningham with the winning run.

MILTON F. SPRUNGER, assistant executive secretary of the Illinois High School Athletic Association, in a letter to Arthur G. Ramey, offers thanks for what he describes as the "splendid hospitality" shown him during his recent visit here.

Sprunger, who led the discussions at the Allegany County Board of Education's football clinic, praised those who attended for their interest and added that it was a "very easy meeting to conduct."

The Cumberland meeting was among 15 conducted by Sprunger, a member of the national rules committee, this year. Six of the clinics were held in his home state.

SAN DIEGO is the 1954 American Legion's junior baseball champion and the eighth from California in the 28 years of the national event since 1926.

Ohio and North Carolina have had three winners each while the two-timer winners have been Illinois, Louisiana, New York and Maryland. Thirteen different states have shared in the national titles.

San Diego and Oakland, California, and Cincinnati, Ohio, lead the cities with three wins each.

The Pacific Coast has had the winner five times in the past six years. Trenton, N. J., was the last eastern winner in 1948.

GLENN R. HAWKINS has given up football coaching at the West Virginia School for the Deaf at Romney but will continue as baseball mentor next spring. Malcolm Norwood will be head basketball coach.

Hawkins, who did a noteworthy job in building up an all-around sports program at the Romney school, takes over the farm management and teaches Vo-Ag. He also is driver education instructor.

Win or lose, Hawkins has been one of the most cooperative sports publicists to hit the nearby West Virginia high school circuit in many a day. And all his writings were in long hand.

TO GEORGE KIFER:

The home run ball that Mickey Mantle slammed in Washington, D. C., Friday, April 17, 1953 went over the left-centerfield bleachers at Griffith Stadium, caromed off a beer sign and sailed clear out of the park. That was the one they said traveled a distance of 562 feet. It was the first time in the 29-year history of the Washington park that a ball was hit over those bleachers. Hope this answers your question.

ACCORDING to N.B.A. figures, 60 boxing clubs (only 30 currently operating) were licensed on January 1.

A decade ago 300 clubs were in weekly action around the country.

There hasn't been a boxing show in Cumberland since 1951. The amateurs last showed here May 28 and the pros June 29 of that year.

BOB LITTLETON, who served as pari mutuel manager at Fairgo this year, says he never has had more trouble with attempts to defraud the tote machines than he encountered at the recent 10-day Hagerstown meeting.

One culprit waited an entire year to arrive at what he thought was the right time to attempt slipping a phony ticket past a cashier.

On Aug. 26 the No. 7 horse won the third race. Shortly after that event, when the payoff department was very busy, an alert cashier was confronted with a $5 win ticket marked No. 7, third race, August 26.

But an experienced eye detected the fact the code letters were incorrect. A closer examination of the ticket revealed it had been sold on No. 7 horse in the third race on Aug. 26, 1953.

The customer had kept the worthless ticket for a year in an effort to cheat the iron men. He was escorted through the nearest exit.

An aged man who had been employed at Maryland tracks for 17 years tried to cash a "doctored" tote ticket on a $154 Daily Double payoff but he was picked up by detectives. The winning numbers were 4 and 1 and the holder of a ticket on 1 and 1 had turned the first 1 into a 4 by merely using a regular ballpoint pen.

Wynn Records 20th Triumph, Beats A's, 5-2

Cleveland Maintains Lead Of 4½ Games; Wertz Blasts Homer

CLEVELAND, Sept. 8 (INS)—Veteran righthander Early Wynn tonight became the second Cleveland pitcher to record his 20th victory of the season as he hurled the league leading Indians to a 5 to 2 triumph over Philadelphia before 14,262 chilly fans in Cleveland.

The victory enabled the Tribe to maintain its four and one-half game lead over the New York Yankees who whipped Baltimore, 8 to 2.

Wynn, who has dropped 11 games this season, reached the magic 20 number for the third time in his career. Bob Lemon won his 21st game in Baltimore on Labor Day.

The victory for Cleveland was number 99 which set a new win record. The best previous mark for any Indian club was in 1920 when the Tribe recorded 98 triumphs under the late Tris Speaker.

Cleveland only collected seven hits off loser Johnny Gray but they took advantage of five walks and a Philadelphia error.

First Baseman Vic Wertz got the Tribe off to a 1 to 0 lead in the second inning when he blasted his 13th homer of the year. Cleveland scored two more runs in the third inning and pushed another pair across in the seventh.

Cleveland's win was the 17th victory in 21 starts against the hapless Athletics this season.

Sapp Pulls Upset, Beats Jack Dorsey In Dingle Tourney

John "Boots" Sapp provided a surprise in the Dingle Tennis Tournament yesterday when he upset Jack Dorsey, of Keyser, the 1953 champion, in straight sets, 7-5, 6-4.

The victory enabled Sapp to reach the finals where he will play the winner of the match between Lawrence Middlekamp and Glenn Workman, of Keyser.

Turley Fans Dozen In Seven Innings; 28,670 See Contest

BALTIMORE, Sept. 8 (INS)—Lefthander Tommy Byrne made a triumphal return to the major leagues tonight as he pitched and batted the New York Yankees to an 8-to-2 victory over the last-place Baltimore Orioles. The crowd of 28,670 was the second largest night attendance of the year at Memorial Stadium.

Byrne, who was purchased last week from Seattle of the Pacific Coast League, walked four and struck out four as he permitted only one earned run while serving up a baffling assortment of slow pitches. He doubled with the bases loaded in the fourth inning to drive in three runs and scored the first run for New York in the third inning after clouting a long triple.

Despite the victory, the Yankees remained four a half games behind the league-leading Cleveland Indians, who defeated Philadelphia tonight.

Byrne's performance was almost overshadowed by that of Oriole fireballer Bob Turley who struck out 12 in the first seven innings before being lifted for a pinch hitter. He was six short of the modern strikeout record for nine innings held by Bob Feller.

The loss was Turley's fifteenth against 11 wins. The win was Byrne's first in the major leagues since he was told to Seattle last year after pitching the Yankees to pennants in 1949 and 1950.

Byrne's triple and Gil McDougald's sacrifice fly in the third inning got the Yankees off to a 1-0 lead.

In the fourth inning, the Yankees loaded the bases on a walk to Yogi Berra, a single by Enos Slaughter and another walk to Andy Carey. Byrne then unloaded a double to center to drive in three runs for the margin of victory.

Seven Cleveland Pitchers Boast ERA Under 3.0 Mark

Lemon Leads At 2.72; Newhouser Surprises

CLEVELAND, Sept. 8 (AP)—Cleveland's pitching staff, ranked for years with the best in the business, has seven of its eight front line workmen under 3.0 in the earned run averages.

That includes the "big three" of Early Wynn, Mike Garcia and Bob Lemon; one of the spot pitchers—Bob Feller—and three relievers, veteran Hal Newhouser and rookies Don Mossi and Ray Narleski.

The other spot hurler, Art Houtteman, is at 3.49, but his 14-6 record this year is far ahead of last season's 7-7.

Every Indian pitcher has cut his ERA this year. Lemon, who had a 3.36 ERA in 1953, now is 2.72. Wynn, who had a 3.93, if now 2.85 and Garcia, who had a 3.24, is now 2.54.

The other four with low averages are Feller at 2.96, Mossi at 2.11, Narleski at 2.12, and Newhouser at 2.47.

All three relievers—Mossi, Narleski and Newhouser—are new to the Indians this year. Mossi, up from Tulsa, has won five and lost one; Narleski, up from Indianapolis, has won three and lost two; and Newhouser has a 6-2 record.

Buffalo Light-Heavy Wins In 2nd Round

CHICAGO, Sept. 8 (AP) — Paul Andrews, Buffalo light-heavyweight, connected with a steaming right to the jaw to score a second-round knockout tonight over Bobby Hughes of Warren, Ohio, in a scheduled ten-rounder at Chicago Stadium.

Andrews' bomb landed on the surprised Hughes as he was trying to weave inside. He fell back on his haunches, then tumbled over on his side.

Hughes was counted out after 52 seconds had elapsed in the round and stayed down for several minutes before officials helped him to his corner. He was bleeding from the mouth and nose.

For the six-foot, three-inch Andrews, former paratrooper, the victory was his 29th in 32 bouts. It was his 15th knockout.

The 24-year-old Buffalo belter, third-ranking light-heavyweight, outweighed his little-known opponent 180 to 176. Hughes, 26, absorbed his 13th loss in 37 fights.

Kluszewski Clouts 45th, Redlegs Win

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8 (AP) — Big Ted Kluszewski started a 4-run sixth-inning rally with his 45th homer of the year as the Cincinnati Redlegs beat the Philadelphia Phillies 9-3 tonight and took over fourth place in the National League from the losers.

Frick Proposes TV And Radio Help Baseball Rescue Minors

Blames Unlimited TV With Killing Leagues

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (INS)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said today that he feels "it is time for baseball and the radio-television industry to sit down together and try to work out something that will save the minor leagues."

But Frick hastily added that his office cannot take the initiative in promoting such an understanding because it would be a violation of Anti-Trust laws.

Frick said that "it would not be saying anything new" to blame unlimited television of major league games with "killing off minor league baseball, which in turn will kill off major league baseball."

He said that he, himself, has no "pat solution" for the problem but that he feels one could be reached if "all the interested parties got together."

Frick said that better relationships with college baseball may help make up for the steady shrinkage of lower minor leagues. He pointed out that organized baseball recently guaranteed the colleges that it would not approach varsity athletes with professional baseball offers.

He added that "we certainly can't hang all of minor league baseball's ills on radio and TV." He said bad promotion and club-owners "who can't see past next year" are factors, too.

Champs See Rocky Train

Attell, Berlenbach, Lynch, Salica Attend

GROSSINGER, N. Y., Sept. 8 (AP)—Four former boxing champions watched Rocky Marciano go through his paces today and all were impressed by the heavyweight king's strenuous efforts.

Abe Attell, the former featherweight champion, said, however, there was a possibility Rocky might get over-trained.

"I know Rocky is as strong as an ox but he isn't superhuman," said Attell. "He may leave his fight in the gym."

Paul Berlenbach, one-time light heavyweight ruler, and two ex-bantamweight champs, Joe Lynch and Lou Salica, also watched Marciano box five rounds.

Ez Takes Day Off

MONTICELLO, N. Y., Sept. 8 (AP)—Ezzard Charles, taking a day off from boxing in his preparations for next Wednesday's heavyweight title fight against champion Rocky Marciano, said today he expects to punch harder and faster than in their previous meeting.

"I will surely throw a lot more punches," Charles said. "The last fight will make me fight harder. I know I have to fight to win."

Charles plans to box daily from tomorrow through Monday, when he will complete his training.

MILTON F. SPRUNGER, assistant executive secretary of the Illinois High School Athletic Association, in a letter to Arthur G. Ramey, offers thanks for what he describes as the "splendid hospitality" shown him during his recent visit here.

Sprunger, who led the discussions at the Allegany County Board of Education's football clinic, praised those who attended for their interest and added that it was a "very easy meeting to conduct."

The Cumberland meeting was among 15 conducted by Sprunger, a member of the national rules committee, this year. Six of the clinics were held in his home state.

SHEPHERD College's football roster includes a dozen former Cumberland and nearby West Virginia high school athletes, namely:

SAN DIEGO is the 1954 American Legion's junior baseball champion and the eighth from California in the 28 years of the national event since 1926.

Ohio and North Carolina have had three winners each while the two-timer winners have been Illinois, Louisiana, New York and Maryland. Thirteen different states have shared in the national titles.

San Diego and Oakland, California, and Cincinnati, Ohio, lead the cities with three wins each.

The Pacific Coast has had the winner five times in the past six years. Trenton, N. J., was the last eastern winner in 1948.

GLENN R. HAWKINS has given up football coaching at the West Virginia School for the Deaf at Romney but will continue as baseball mentor next spring. Malcolm Norwood will be head basketball coach.

Hawkins, who did a noteworthy job in building up an all-around sports program at the Romney school, takes over the farm management and teaches Vo-Ag. He also is driver education instructor.

Win or lose, Hawkins has been one of the most cooperative sports publicists to hit the nearby West Virginia high school circuit in many a day. And all his writings were in long hand.

TO GEORGE KIFER:

The home run ball that Mickey Mantle slammed in Washington, D. C., Friday, April 17, 1953 went over the left-centerfield bleachers at Griffith Stadium, caromed off a beer sign and sailed clear out of the park. That was the one they said traveled a distance of 562 feet. It was the first time in the 29-year history of the Washington park that a ball was hit over those bleachers. Hope this answers your question.

ACCORDING to N.B.A. figures, 60 boxing clubs (only 30 currently operating) were licensed on January 1.

A decade ago 300 clubs were in weekly action around the country.

There hasn't been a boxing show in Cumberland since 1951. The amateurs last showed here May 28 and the pros June 29 of that year.

BOB LITTLETON, who served as pari mutuel manager at Fairgo this year, says he never has had more trouble with attempts to defraud the tote machines than he encountered at the recent 10-day Hagerstown meeting.

One culprit waited an entire year to arrive at what he thought was the right time to attempt slipping a phony ticket past a cashier.

On Aug. 26 the No. 7 horse won the third race. Shortly after that event, when the payoff department was very busy, an alert cashier was confronted with a $5 win ticket marked No. 7, third race, August 26.

But an experienced eye detected the fact the code letters were incorrect. A closer examination of the ticket revealed it had been sold on No. 7 horse in the third race on Aug. 26, 1953.

The customer had kept the worthless ticket for a year in an effort to cheat the iron men. He was escorted through the nearest exit.

An aged man who had been employed at Maryland tracks for 17 years tried to cash a "doctored" tote ticket on a $154 Daily Double payoff but he was picked up by detectives. The winning numbers were 4 and 1 and the holder of a ticket on 1 and 1 had turned the first 1 into a 4 by merely using a regular ballpoint pen.

How desperate can horse players get?

ROBERT W. Scrivener is the new sports editor of the Martinsburg (W.Va.) Journal, succeeding Tom Jones who resigned to accept another position.

For the past three years Scrivener has served as deputy circuit clerk at the Martinsburg court house. He is a graduate of Martinsburg High School, a veteran of World War II and played baseball and softball in the Martinsburg area.

TO KNIPPY:

The stretch at Marlboro is 60 feet longer than that of Timonium. Marlboro is 480 feet long and Timonium is 420. Cumberland is 450 feet.

"BEE" ORNDORFF and John Shelton of the Potomac Valley Football Officials Association will be at Oakland tonight at 8 o'clock to give the Southern High School gridders a resume of the football rules for the 1954 season.

Wynn Records 20th Triumph, Beats A's, 5-2

Cleveland Maintains Lead Of 4½ Games; Wertz Blasts Homer

CLEVELAND, Sept. 8 (INS)—Veteran righthander Early Wynn tonight became the second Cleveland pitcher to record his 20th victory of the season as he hurled the league leading Indians to a 5 to 2 triumph over Philadelphia before 14,262 chilly fans in Cleveland.

The victory enabled the Tribe to maintain its four and one-half game lead over the New York Yankees who whipped Baltimore, 8 to 2.

Wynn, who has dropped 11 games this season, reached the magic 20 number for the third time in his career. Bob Lemon won his 21st game in Baltimore on Labor Day.

The victory for Cleveland was number 99 which set a new win record. The best previous mark for any Indian club was in 1920 when the Tribe recorded 98 triumphs under the late Tris Speaker.

First Baseman Vic Wertz got the Tribe off to a 1 to 0 lead in the second inning when he blasted his 13th homer of the year. Cleveland scored two more runs in the third inning and pushed another pair across in the seventh.

Sapp Pulls Upset, Beats Jack Dorsey In Dingle Tourney

John "Boots" Sapp provided a surprise in the Dingle Tennis Tournament yesterday when he upset Jack Dorsey, of Keyser, the 1953 champion, in straight sets, 7-5, 6-4.

The victory enabled Sapp to reach the finals where he will play the winner of the match between Lawrence Middlekamp and Glenn Workman, of Keyser.

Turley Fans Dozen In Seven Innings; 28,670 See Contest

BALTIMORE, Sept. 8 (INS)—Lefthander Tommy Byrne made a triumphal return to the major leagues tonight as he pitched and batted the New York Yankees to an 8-to-2 victory over the last-place Baltimore Orioles. The crowd of 28,670 was the second largest night attendance of the year at Memorial Stadium.

Byrne, who was purchased last week from Seattle of the Pacific Coast League, walked four and struck out four as he permitted only one earned run while serving up a baffling assortment of slow pitches. He doubled with the bases loaded in the fourth inning to drive in three runs and scored the first run for New York in the third inning after clouting a long triple.

Despite the victory, the Yankees remained four a half games behind the league-leading Cleveland Indians, who defeated Philadelphia tonight.

Byrne's performance was almost overshadowed by that of Oriole fireballer Bob Turley who struck out 12 in the first seven innings before being lifted for a pinch hitter. He was six short of the modern strikeout record for nine innings held by Bob Feller.

The loss was Turley's fifteenth against 11 wins. The win was Byrne's first in the major leagues since he was told to Seattle last year after pitching the Yankees to pennants in 1949 and 1950.

Byrne's triple and Gil McDougald's sacrifice fly in the third inning got the Yankees off to a 1-0 lead.

In the fourth inning, the Yankees loaded the bases on a walk to Yogi Berra, a single by Enos Slaughter and another walk to Andy Carey. Byrne then unloaded a double to center to drive in three runs for the margin of victory.

Seven Cleveland Pitchers Boast ERA Under 3.0 Mark

Lemon Leads At 2.72; Newhouser Surprises

CLEVELAND, Sept. 8 (AP)—Cleveland's pitching staff, ranked for years with the best in the business, has seven of its eight front line workmen under 3.0 in the earned run averages.

That includes the "big three" of Early Wynn, Mike Garcia and Bob Lemon; one of the spot pitchers—Bob Feller—and three relievers, veteran Hal Newhouser and rookies Don Mossi and Ray Narleski.

Every Indian pitcher has cut his ERA this year. Lemon, who had a 3.36 ERA in 1953, now is 2.72. Wynn, who had a 3.93, if now 2.85 and Garcia, who had a 3.24, is now 2.54.

The other four with low averages are Feller at 2.96, Mossi at 2.11, Narleski at 2.12, and Newhouser at 2.47.

All three reliefers—Mossi, Narleski and Newhouser—are new to the Indians this year. Mossi, up from Tulsa, has won five and lost one; Narleski, up from Indianapolis, has won three and lost two; and Newhouser has a 6-2 record.

Buffalo Light-Heavy Wins In 2nd Round

CHICAGO, Sept. 8 (AP) — Paul Andrews, Buffalo light-heavyweight, connected with a steaming right to the jaw to score a second-round knockout tonight over Bobby Hughes of Warren, Ohio, in a scheduled ten-rounder at Chicago Stadium.

Andrews' bomb landed on the surprised Hughes as he was trying to weave inside. He fell back on his haunches, then tumbled over on his side.

Hughes was counted out after 52 seconds had elapsed in the round and stayed down for several minutes before officials helped him to his corner. He was bleeding from the mouth and nose.

Kluszewski Clouts 45th, Redlegs Win

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8 (AP) — Big Ted Kluszewski started a 4-run sixth-inning rally with his 45th homer of the year as the Cincinnati Redlegs beat the Philadelphia Phillies 9-3 tonight and took over fourth place in the National League from the losers.

Frick Proposes TV And Radio Help Baseball Rescue Minors

Blames Unlimited TV With Killing Leagues

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (INS) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said today that he feels "it is time for baseball and the radio-television industry to sit down together and try to work out something that will save the minor leagues."

But Frick hastily added that his office cannot take the initiative in promoting such an understanding because it would be a violation of Anti-Trust laws.

Frick said that "it would not be saying anything new" to blame unlimited television of major league games with "killing off minor league baseball, which in turn will kill off major league baseball."

He said that he, himself, has no "pat solution" for the problem but that he feels one could be reached if "all the interested parties got together."

Frick said that better relationships with college baseball may help make up for the steady shrinkage of lower minor leagues. He pointed out that organized baseball recently guaranteed the colleges that it would not approach varsity athletes with professional baseball offers.

He added that "we certainly can't hang all of minor league baseball's ills on radio and TV." He said bad promotion and club-owners "who can't see past next year" are factors, too.

Champs See Rocky Train

Attell, Berlenbach, Lynch, Salica Attend

GROSSINGER, N. Y., Sept. 8 (AP)—Four former boxing champions watched Rocky Marciano go through his paces today and all were impressed by the heavyweight king's strenuous efforts.

Abe Attell, the former featherweight champion, said, however, there was a possibility Rocky might get over-trained.

"I know Rocky is as strong as an ox but he isn't superhuman," said Attell. "He may leave his fight in the gym."

Paul Berlenbach, one-time light heavyweight ruler, and two ex-bantamweight champs, Joe Lynch and Lou Salica, also watched Marciano box five rounds.

Ez Takes Day Off

MONTICELLO, N. Y., Sept. 8 (AP)—Ezzard Charles, taking a day off from boxing in his preparations for next Wednesday's heavyweight title fight against champion Rocky Marciano, said today he expects to punch harder and faster than in their previous meeting.

"I will surely throw a lot more punches," Charles said. "The last fight will make me fight harder. I know I have to fight to win."

Warren Spahn Notches 19th Triumph, 5-2

Southpaw Chalks Up 11th In Row; Mathews Wallops 36th Homer

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 8 (INS) — The Milwaukee Braves moved to within four games of first place in the National League today by defeating Pittsburgh, 5 to 2, for Warren Spahn's 19th victory.

The Braves added insurance runs in the sixth and ninth when Del Crandall doubled home Andy Pafko and when Spahn, who gave up seven hits, singled in Johnny Logan.

The Pirates gave Dick Littlefield a momentary lead in the first inning when Frank Thomas singled home Curt Roberts and Gair Allie.

NO VICTORIES

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. — When North Carolina tangles with Notre Dame in South Bend on Nov. 13, the Tar Heels will be going for their first win against the Fighting Irish. Notre Dame has claimed every game in the series which began in 1949.

Baltimore Colts Football Players Share In Profits

BALTIMORE, Sept. 8 (AP)—Players on the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League will have their eyes on the paying customers as much as they're being watched this season since they will again share in profits.

Carroll Rosenbloom, principal owner, said today the players and coaches will receive a bonus at the end of the season if the club makes money.

Rosenbloom pleasantly surprised the squad after last season ended by unexpectedly mailing each a check for $500 and thanking him for his efforts. The Colts won only three of 12 games.

Rosenbloom said he and other stockholders bought the Colts last season with no idea of making money.

"Anybody is a fool to go into pro football feeling he can make money from it," he said, "and the boys will always be our first consideration."

Army Looms As Contender For National Grid Title

Cornell, Penn State Among Best In East

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Sept. 7—(INS)—This is supposed to be "the year" at West Point, according to the time table set up following the cribbing disaster of 1951.

If the gridiron rebuilding program is on schedule—and last season's 7-1-1 record would indicate that it is—Army should be high up in the scramble for national championship recognition.

However, Coach Earl (Red) Blaik is not optimistic. Lack of depth and experience, particularly in the line, and a rigorous schedule have Blaik—probably the most notorious "weeper" in football now that Notre Dame's Frank Leahy has retired—grievously worried.

Lost Capt. Farris

Biggest blow to Cadet hopes was the premature loss of Captain Bob Farris, star tackle and defensive line backer, who had a delicate eye operation last winter and has been advised to give up football. With Farris out, the man to watch in the line is Guard Ralph Chesnauskas.

The backfield is a brighter story. Returnees include Pete Vann, a really fine passer; Pat Uebel, who scored all three touchdowns in the Cadets' 20-to-7 triumph over Navy, and Wingback Tommy Bell.

The Cadets, who lost only to Northwestern last year and tied Tulane, open with South Carolina on September 25. Then come Michigan, Dartmouth, Duke, Columbia, Virginia, Yale, Penn and Navy.

Strongest opposition for Eastern honors is expected from Cornell, the defending Ivy League champion, Penn State and Navy. Pittsburgh has some of its best manpower in recent years, but with it, a man-killing schedule. Penn and Villanova are rebuilding under new coaches, Steve Sebo and Frank Reagan, respectively.

New England is touting Boston College and Holy Cross, both of which may, like the Ivy League schools, suffer mightily from lack of spring practice.

Lions Can Cause Trouble

Penn State can make real trouble if Coach Rip Engle comes up with a suitable quarterback replacement for Tony Rados. The Nittany Lions have individual standouts in Halfback Lenny Moore, End Jmi Garrity and 6'4", 245-pound Tackle Roosevelt Grier.

The Lions will find out very soon how good they are. They open against Illinois and J. C. Caroline.

Cornell's Ivy League bid is built around Quarterback Dick Lalla, one of the best in the east. Harvard has 19 lettermen. Strong 1953 freshman squads should bolster Yale and Columbia. Princeton is a question mark, but the Tigers possess one fine asset in Junior Tailback Royce Flippin, an All-East choice last year.

67 Theaters Will Show Fight On TV

NEW YOK, Sept. 8 (AP)—Sixty-seven theaters have been cleared for the theater telecast of the Rocky Marciano - Ezzard Charles heavyweight title fight Sept. 15, a Theater Network Television Inc. official said today.

Nate Halpern, president of TNT, said more than 70 theaters are expected to carry the closed circuit telecast of the Yankee Stadium 15-rounder starting at 9:30 p.m. (EST).

The fight will not be telecast. CBS will radio broadcast the bout.

Sees Grid Boom

BERNIE BIERMAN, football authority and former coach at the University of Minnesota, predicts this collegiate grid season will be better than last year because players have had a full season to become accustomed to the collegiate limited substitution rule. (International)

Southpaw Chalks Up 11th In Row; Mathews Wallops 36th Homer

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 8 (INS) — The Milwaukee Braves moved to within four games of first place in the National League today by defeating Pittsburgh, 5 to 2, for Warren Spahn's 19th victory.

The New York Giants, scheduled to play Chicago at the Polo Grounds, were idled today by rain.

Eddie Mathews' 36th homerun in the third inning gave Milwaukee its margin of victory for the Braves' 10th straight and Spahn's 11th in a row.

The Braves added insurance runs in the sixth and ninth when Del Crandall doubled home Andy Pafko and when Spahn, who gave up seven hits, singled in Johnny Logan.

Baltimore Colts Football Players Share In Profits

BALTIMORE, Sept. 8 (AP)—Players on the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League will have their eyes on the paying customers as much as they're being watched this season since they will again share in profits.

Carroll Rosenbloom, principal owner, said today the players and coaches will receive a bonus at the end of the season if the club makes money.

Rosenbloom pleasantly surprised the squad after last season ended by unexpectedly mailing each a check for $500 and thanking him for his efforts. The Colts won only three of 12 games.

Rosenbloom said he and other stockholders bought the Colts last season with no idea of making money.

"Anybody is a fool to go into pro football feeling he can make money from it," he said, "and the boys will always be our first consideration."

Army Looms As Contender For National Grid Title

Cornell, Penn State Among Best In East

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Sept. 7—(INS)—This is supposed to be "the year" at West Point, according to the time table set up following the cribbing disaster of 1951.

If the gridiron rebuilding program is on schedule—and last season's 7-1-1 record would indicate that it is—Army should be high up in the scramble for national championship recognition.

However, Coach Earl (Red) Blaik is not optimistic. Lack of depth and experience, particularly in the line, and a rigorous schedule have Blaik—probably the most notorious "weeper" in football now that Notre Dame's Frank Leahy has retired—grievously worried.

Lost Capt. Farris

Biggest blow to Cadet hopes was the premature loss of Captain Bob Farris, star tackle and defensive line backer, who had a delicate eye operation last winter and has been advised to give up football. With Farris out, the man to watch in the line is Guard Ralph Chesnauskas.

The backfield is a brighter story. Returnees include Pete Vann, a really fine passer; Pat Uebel, who scored all three touchdowns in the Cadets' 20-to-7 triumph over Navy, and Wingback Tommy Bell.

The Cadets, who lost only to Northwestern last year and tied Tulane, open with South Carolina on September 25. Then come Michigan, Dartmouth, Duke, Columbia, Virginia, Yale, Penn and Navy.

Strongest opposition for Eastern honors is expected from Cornell, the defending Ivy League champion, Penn State and Navy. Pittsburgh has some of its best manpower in recent years, but with it, a man-killing schedule. Penn and Villanova are rebuilding under new coaches, Steve Sebo and Frank Reagan, respectively.

New England is touting Boston College and Holy Cross, both of which may, like the Ivy League schools, suffer mightily from lack of spring practice.

Lions Can Cause Trouble

Penn State can make real trouble if Coach Rip Engle comes up with a suitable quarterback replacement for Tony Rados. The Nittany Lions have individual standouts in Halfback Lenny Moore, End Jim Garrity and 6'4", 245-pound Tackle Roosevelt Grier.

The Lions will find out very soon how good they are. They open against Illinois and J. C. Caroline.

Navy is optimistic with the return of Captain Phil Monahan, last year's leading scorer and ground gainer, who recovered nicely from a knee operation. Biggest Middie headache is the line, where Coach Eddie Erdelatz must start virtually from scratch.

Cornell's Ivy League bid is built around Quarterback Dick Lalla, one of the best in the east. Harvard has 19 lettermen. Strong 1953 freshman squads should bolster Yale and Columbia. Princeton is a question mark, but the Tigers possess one fine asset in Junior Tailback Royce Flippin, an All-East choice last year.

67 Theaters Will Show Fight On TV

NEW YOK, Sept. 8 (AP)—Sixty-seven theaters have been cleared for the theater telecast of the Rocky Marciano - Ezzard Charles heavyweight title fight Sept. 15, a Theater Network Television Inc. official said today.

Nate Halpern, president of TNT, said more than 70 theaters are expected to carry the closed circuit telecast of the Yankee Stadium 15-rounder starting at 9:30 p.m. (EST).

The fight will not be telecast. CBS will radio broadcast the bout.

4-H Boys Take Honors At Timonium Fair

Seven places in statewide Boys 4-H competition at the Maryland State Fair at Timonium were won by Allegany County youths, according to James Weamert, assistant county agent.

The junior dairy judging team won second place in that event, competing against 11 other teams. The members were Robert Moore, Mt. Savage; Fred Loar, Loartown, and Louis Miltenberger, of near Cumberland.

Moore was third and Loar was fifth in the individual dairy judging contest. They were entered against 45 other boys.

Naval Officer Killed In Fall From Train

Officials of the B&O Railroad have completed an investigation in the death of a 44-year-old Naval officer who fell from an eastbound passenger train early Sunday about one mile west of Martinsburg.

The victim was Lt. Cmdr. Oscar S. Powers, of Austin, Texas. He was believed to be on the instructional staff of the University of Texas.

Some time ago, a nine-year-old youngster returning home from a School Safety Patrol session in Washington was killed under similar circumstances in the same locale.

Assisted in the probe by State Police, railroad authorities surmised that Powers, who was riding in a day coach, had perhaps been seeking the men's rest room in the darkness and by mistake opened the door between the cars, falling head first onto the tracks.

Coroner Dr. C. G. Powers decided that the death was accidental. Powers suffered a double skull fracture and apparently was killed outright. The body was fully clothed.

The accident occurred a few minutes before the train pulled into the Martinsburg station. The body was discovered 15 minutes later by a freight crewman.

Powers, a member of the Naval Reserve, was reporting for two weeks of active duty in Washington.

EIGHT TRICKS AT MOST

POSSESSION of all four aces and all four kings doesn't guarantee success in a grand slam contract. The most tricks they can ever take totals eight. You have to find some way to take five other tricks, with lower honors, ruffing or established small cards, or perhaps with a squeeze, in order to get all thirteen. This fact seems to be overlooked by some players, who like to indulge their delight with gadgets like the Blackwood convention. That device is fine for the purpose which caused its origin, but it can't do everything for you.

North's 4-Diamonds call after two spade bids showed that suit to be of only four cards and the first of either six or seven cards. His failure to show support for clubs made it extremely unlikely he had more than one or two of them. So South decided that he would select a No Trump contract, the height depending on the number of aces and kings North could show in response to the Blackwood bids of 4 and 5 in No Trumps. When these disclosed possession of all the missing aces and kings, south barged into the grand slam.

As it developed, there was no play whatever for the contract, despite the fact that each partner also had a queen. The sole chance was that the clubs might be divided evenly in the defenders' hands. So, upon winning the heart 2 lead in dummy, South scored the club Q, led to the spade K and cashed the club A and K. West's discard showed that this wouldn't work. Counting made it clear that, even if the diamond finesse worked and the suit broke evenly, only twelve tricks were in sight. Since the diamond play was a long shot, South made sure of being down only one by giving up a club trick to East, won the heart return and raked in the rest of the tricks.

4-H Boys Take Honors At Timonium Fair

Seven places in statewide Boys 4-H competition at the Maryland State Fair at Timonium were won by Allegany County youths, according to James Weamert, assistant county agent.

The junior dairy judging team won second place in that event, competing against 11 other teams. The members were Robert Moore, Mt. Savage; Fred Loar, Loartown, and Louis Miltenberger, of near Cumberland.

Moore was third and Loar was fifth in the individual dairy judging contest. They were entered against 45 other boys.

Naval Officer Killed In Fall From Train

Officials of the B&O Railroad have completed an investigation in the death of a 44-year-old Naval officer who fell from an eastbound passenger train early Sunday about one mile west of Martinsburg.

The victim was Lt. Cmdr. Oscar S. Powers, of Austin, Texas. He was believed to be on the instructional staff of the University of Texas.

Some time ago, a nine-year-old youngster returning home from a School Safety Patrol session in Washington was killed under similar circumstances in the same locale.

Assisted in the probe by State Police, railroad authorities surmised that Powers, who was riding in a day coach, had perhaps been seeking the men's rest room in the darkness and by mistake opened the door between the cars, falling head first onto the tracks.

Coroner Dr. C. G. Powers decided that the death was accidental. Powers suffered a double skull fracture and apparently was killed outright. The body was fully clothed.

The accident occurred a few minutes before the train pulled into the Martinsburg station. The body was discovered 15 minutes later by a freight crewman.

Powers, a member of the Naval Reserve, was reporting for two weeks of active duty in Washington.

Daily Bridge Lesson

EIGHT TRICKS AT MOST

POSSESSION of all four aces and all four kings doesn't guarantee success in a grand slam contract. The most tricks they can ever take totals eight. You have to find some way to take five other tricks, with lower honors, ruffing or established small cards, or perhaps with a squeeze, in order to get all thirteen. This fact seems to be overlooked by some players, who like to indulge their delight with gadgets like the Blackwood convention. That device is fine for the purpose which caused its origin, but it can't do everything for you.

	♠ A 8 7 5 3 2 ♥ A K ♦ A J 9 3 ♣ Q
♠ J 9 6 4 ♥ 10 8 5 2 ♦ Q 10 6 ♣ J 5	N W E S	♠ Q 10 ♥ J 9 4 3 ♦ 8 4 2 ♣ 10 9 7 4
	♠ K ♥ Q 7 6 ♦ K 7 5 ♣ A K 8 6 3 2

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
4 ♣	Pass	4 ♦	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♠	Pass
5 NT	Pass	6 ♠	Pass

North's 4-Diamonds call after two spade bids showed that suit to be of only four cards and the first of either six or seven cards. His failure to show support for clubs made it extremely unlikely he had more than one or two of them. So South decided that he would select a No Trump contract, the height depending on the number of aces and kings North could show in response to the Blackwood bids of 4 and 5 in No Trumps. When these disclosed possession of all the missing aces and kings, south barged into the grand slam.

As it developed, there was no play whatever for the contract, despite the fact that each partner also had a queen. The sole chance was that the clubs might be divided evenly in the defenders' hands. So, upon winning the heart 2 lead in dummy, South scored the club Q, led to the spade K and cashed the club A and K. West's discard showed that this wouldn't work. Counting made it clear that, even if the diamond finesse worked and the suit broke evenly, only twelve tricks were in sight. Since the diamond play was a long shot, South made sure of being down only one by giving up a club trick to East, won the heart return and raked in the rest of the tricks.

In Memoriam

In memory of our father, James E. Twigg, who passed away, September 7, 1942.
When I was just a little child
I used to wait all day
For Daddy, when his work was done
To hurry home and play;
And now he's gone, as all must go—
But faith has made it plain
That one day I shall join him There,
And play with him again.
The children.
Thurman - Kermit - Phyllis
Mrs. Ervin Shrout.

In Memory of Bill Feagles, who died one year ago September 6, 1953.
We miss you Bill, your mother and I,
In just the year gone by,
We'll see you Bill,
When the Lord takes us
To be there side by side.
Bertha & Mother

This is for you! A better-than-average truck with 2-speed rear axle. The condition of the body is excellent and the motor is even better. For a workhorse don't miss it! And when you buy a used truck you want good rubber — this one has it with dual wheels. In fact, we feel there is no better truck at the price in this territory.

In Memoriam

In memory of our father, James E. Twigg, who passed away, September 7, 1947.

When I was just a little child
I used to wait all day
For Daddy, when his work was done
To hurry home and play;
And now he's gone, as all must go—
But faith has made it plain
That one day I shall join him There,
And play with him again.
The children,
Thurman - Kermit - Phyllis
Mrs. Ervin Shrout.

In Memory of Bill Feagles, who died one year ago September 6, 1953.

We miss you Bill, your mother and I,
In just the year gone by,
We'll see you Bill,
When the Lord takes us

Bertha & Mother

This is for you! A better-than-average truck with 2-speed rear axle. The condition of the body is excellent and the motor is even better. For a workhorse don't miss it! And when you buy a used truck you want good rubber — this one has it with dual wheels. In fact, we feel there no better truck at the price in this territory.

DOUBLE-BRICK DWELLING $9850

Six rooms and bath each side and new forced-air furnace on 209 side. Full attic, slate roof, front and rear porches, level lot 60' x 150' and all street improvements in. The nice, well kept condition of the rooms makes a very favorable impression.

Located 207-209 Mary St., in the development where Cumberland did it's best Street planning. Principally a home owning section where much pride is taken in the tidying-up, planting of flowers and vegetable gardens, thus creating a real home atmosphere. Modern type of construction is in evidence. It would take at least twice the selling price of $9850 to build this property today.

Communications Upset As Fire Damages Cable

Phone, Teletype Service Disrupted

Major long distance communications were interrupted here last night when trunk line cables between this city and Baltimore and Washington went out of service.

C. Walter Haschert, manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company's local exchange, said a fire at Boonsboro—about midway between Hagerstown and Frederick—was given as the cause.

Fire from a burning building severed major cables and service to radio stations, newspapers, state police, industries, and all users of teletypes were affected.

Emergency circuits were thrown into use and a system of circuitous rerouting was eventually worked out. The initial interruption here came at 5:55 p. m., and copy originating in Baltimore and coming in on teletypes in the News office ceased to flow. These Associated Press teletype machines ran blank, and when copy finally was received, it was badly mixed up.

Haschert said Cumberland later was connected with Baltimore and Washington by way of Clarksburg, W. Va., and still later through Bedford and Pittsburgh in an effort to restore service.

Network "Blacked Out"

Direct communications to major cities and major news centers will be out many hours, as the task of restoring main cables is a long and tedious one, Haschert said. Every available lineman and cable-splicer in this area was sent to Boonsboro and had begun the task of sorting and connecting the scores of lines involved.

Major radio network programs were interrupted and some were "blacked out" in this area, due to the cable breakdown.

The fire, however, did not affect The Cumberland News' direct Associated Press wire to New York or its direct International News Service wire to Pittsburgh. The AP Wirephoto network which is routed over still another area remained in service. Thus with these news circuits plus Wirephoto it was possible for The News to provide the latest and most complete world-wide news report available in the entire area.

Newspapers and radio outlets with only one circuit experienced at least partial news "blackouts" at repeated intervals.

Bad Switch Blamed

A faulty switch in a fruit grading machine was blamed for the blaze. The building, only about 30 feet long, was filled with wooden packing crates. Peaches were being graded and packed at the time.

The wooden structure, plus the wooden packing crates, made a very hot fire, which reached the cables and trunk lines just alongside the packing building. Loss was not estimated.

At a late hour, it had been determined by telephone men that 26 major trunk lines were among those affected. It was hoped to have service restored by 8 a. m. today.

Long distance operators reported a heavy backlog of toll calls, and only emergency calls were being rerouted before midnight on an immediate basis. Other calls were being accepted on a delay of at least an hour.

Telephone company officials explain that rerouting over other circuits overloads those circuits to a point where the maximum is reached and delay results.

2 Men Nabbed In Arms Theft

Two Webster Springs, W. Va., men are in Mineral County Jail at Keyser, charged with the theft of firearms from Webster Springs.

They allegedly attempted to sell the guns to a Westernport man. Taken into custody Tuesday at Piedmont were Hanson H. Hamrick, 22, and Kemp E. Whisner, 33, a former resident of Beryl, W. Va.

They were arrested by Trooper Milton Hart of the Maryland State Police, and Cpl. F. H. Tribbett of the West Virginia State Police.

Police said that the two men were nabbed in Piedmont but denied they had taken the guns, which, police said, fitted the description of those taken in Webster Springs in a breaking and entering.

Officers said they found two .22 calibre pistols, a shotgun and two rifles in the home of a relative of Whisner. Authorities at Webster Springs have been notified.

Judge's Opinion Upholds Ruling Of Md. Board

Man Not Entitled To Compensation

An order upholding th Maryland Employment Security Board in its ruling against Eugene T. Gurtler, 711 Shawnee Avenue, has been signed by Associate Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Gurtler, a furloughed Celanese worker, obtained employment at the Continental Diamond Fibre Company at Newark, Del. After having worked there a short time, Gurtler applied for a 10-day leave of absence beginning January 8 so that he could return to Cumberland to see about his chances of being recalled at Celanese.

When he got back home he found that his grandmother was seriously ill. His wife wrote his supervisor that because of the illness he would not be able to return to work at that time. Nevertheless, Judge Henderson stated, he filed a claim for compensation January 11 while still under leave of absence.

The claim was refused by the claim examiner. However, the referee found that the claimant had a compelling reason for leaving his job. Another reversal came when the Employment Security Board ruled that Gurtler voluntarily left his employment without good cause.

Gurtler was recalled at Celanese March 16. His grandmother had died February 7. Judge Henderson agreed in his opinion that Gurtler had "good reason" for remaining in Cumberland from January 18, when his leave of absence ended, until the death of his grandmother February 7.

Judge Henderson emphasized however that there is a distinction between "good reason" and "good cause" within the meaning of the Unemployment Compensation Law. He observed that he had been unable to find any decided case where the reason for leaving work was illness of someone other than the claimant. He concluded by saying that Gurtler had no absolute right to unemployment benefits.

The main basis for Gurtler's appeal apparently was a letter from the claimant's supervisor which had been admitted into the record, although not sworn to or notarized.

ASC Committee To Discuss Plans For Election

A special five-man Election Board will meet with the Allegany County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee at 2 p. m. today to discuss rules and regulations for the November election of new ASC community and county committees.

Serving on the special board are County Agent Joseph M. Steger, chairman; Martin M. Gordon, conservation aide of the Soil Conservation Service; B. Beeson Snyder, regional representative of the Farmers Home Administration; Floyd Buser, president of the Allegany County Farm Bureau, and Earl A. Creek, master of the Piney Plains Grange.

Meanwhile, the regulation which would have prohibited the re-election of two of the three county ASC members has been rescinded as a result of the passage by Congress of an an amendment introduced by Senator Hubert H. Humphrey, Minnesota Democrat.

The Humphrey Amendment prohibits Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson from directing that county committeemen cannot be re-elected. Earlier, Benson had ruled that any committeeman who has served three successive one-year terms could not be eligible for re-election.

Under Benson's directive two of the three committeemen would have been forced off the committee. They are Albert O'Neal and James H. Weimer, both longtime members. The third member, Joseph Silber, was elected for the first time last year.

Manges To Head County Campaign Of Atty. General

500 Lawyers Honor Edward D. E. Rollins

Earl E. Manges, local attorney, has been named Allegany County chairman of the campaign to elect Edward D. E. Rollins as attorney general of Maryland.

Manges was appointed yesterday at a luncheon given by the Republican Lawyers Club of Maryland, in the Emerson Hotel, Batlimore, to honor Rollins.

Over 500 lawyers from all parts of the state attended the luncheon and heard Attorney General Rollins speak and pledge his efforts toward an active campaign.

The affair was the largest testimonial luncheon ever held in Maryland for an attorney general. Rollins was appointed to the office in 1953 by McKeldin and the luncheon was held so that members of the club and their guests might become better acquainted with Rollins.

Former Chief Judge Walter C. Capper, Noel Speir Cook, member of the House of Delegates, and Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason were included in the delegation with Manges from this county. Manges is former chairman of the county's GOP State Central Committee.

Manges said the luncheon had been planned for 400 people originally, but the total exceeded 500 and the affair was held in the hotel's main ballroom.

Franz Polgar, Hypnotist, To Appear Here Tomorrow

Tickets for the presentation of a program tomorrow evening by Dr. Franz Polgar, famed hypnotist, are now available and may be obtained by calling telephone numbers 6768, 300 or 29.

Gus Steese, chairman of the Junior Association of Commerce-sponsored event, said last night members of the Jaycees will deliver tickets to persons who desire to purchase them.

The program is slated at 8 p. m. in Allegany High School. Heralded as "America's greatest one-man show" by the Saturday Evening Post, the Hungarian-born entertainer is a master of telepathy and hypnosis.

The finale and featured portion of the show is devoted to hypnotism, Dr. Polgar's favorite and most entertaining part of the show.

Proceeds of the program, Steese added, will be used for community projects by the Jaycees. Recently the organization purchased and presented a "Rockette" to Memorial Hospital which is used to rock newborn babies to help them draw their first breath and survive.

Bittinger Gets Modern Dial Phone Service

Work on the new telephone system for the Bittinger area has been completed and service is to be cut in to all the 85 subscribers in a special ceremony at 9 a. m. today, according to Walter Haschert, manager of the local telephone exchange.

The new system is the result of the reconstruction, by the C & P Telephone Company, of the old Bittinger Mutual Company, following a disastrous ice and sleet storm a couple of years ago.

The old company was practically wiped out, and C&P, at a cost of $102,000 installed 1,000 new poles, new cables and new telephones for 85 subscribers. The system is considered among the most modern in Western Maryland and is complete with dial equipment, Haschert said.

Company officials, along with officials of the old Mutual Company and officials of nearby Grantsville, have been invited to participate in the "cutting-in" ceremony. Among them will be, besides Haschert, W. E. Morrell, vice president of the telephone company; Thomas W. Dwyer, district commercial manager of Hagerstown; Frank W. Carey, division commercial manager of Baltimore who has charge of all out-state operations; and Nelson Orndorff, former president of the old Mutual Company.

Polling Officials Get Instruction On Their Duties

Election Board Conducts 'School'

"It can happen here but if you are all careful in fulfilling your duties as you should be there will be no disputes concerning ballots cast in the November 2 general election," said William A. Wilson, chairman of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors, in calling attention to arguments which occurred in Talbott and Queen Anne's counties as a result of honest but unnecessary mistakes made by polling officials.

These mistakes were brought to light when George P. Mahoney, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for governor, demanded recounts in the two Eastern Shore counties.

Wilson's remarks were made last night in the large courtroom at the Court House as the second of six "schools" for county polling officials got under way.

More Sessions Planned

Another will be held at the same place at 7:30 tonight. Subsequent sessions are scheduled at Bruce High School in Westernport Friday night, at Central Elementary School in Lonaconing next Wednesday and at the Frostburg Fire Hall Thursday, September 16. Last night 99, or 91.6 per cent, of the 108 expected to attend were present for the special instruction.

Most polling officials learn their duties by a trial-and-error method, the board chairman said. That's why the school idea was advanced as the best way of eliminating needless errors.

Wilson told the group that the board, in checking poll books, had discovered that persons registered as independents had voted in primary elections. They also have found that in some few cases Democrats have been given Republican primary ballots and Republicans have gotten Democratic ballots, contrary to law.

Procedures Explained

Joining with Wilson in instructing the group were the other board members, Victor M. Hebb and Matthew J. Mullaney; John M. Robb, attorney to the board, and Irvin J. Neat, one of the board's registrars.

At the close of the 90-minute session last night, nine-pages of mimeographed instructions to election judges were distributed to all those present for future study.

Most of the regulations are detailed in nature and are primarily of interest only to those who must work at the 91 polling places around the county.

"No person is permitted to canvass or electioneer in the poll room or within 100 feet thereof, nor can anyone hold any tickets or facsimile of tickets or papers purporting to be tickets, either within the polling room or within 100 feet thereof. Any person so offending shall be fined not less than $50 nor more than $500, or imprisoned in jail not exceeding 60 days, or both. . . ."

Regulations Strict

Another explains what a voter must do with his ballot.

"After receiving his ballot the voter at once proceeds alone to one of the booths and there prepares his ballot by marking it in the proper manner. Not more than one voter shall be allowed to enter any one booth at the same time. He cannot stay in the booth more than seven minutes, provided any other voters are waiting to vote. . . ."

There also is a special section of instructions concerning what ballots shall be rejected. If a voter has marked more names than there are persons to be elected to an office, the ballot is invalidated only so far as the particular group of candidates as to which the error occurred is concerned. However, any mark on the ballot which is entirely outside of any square or any mark in a square before which no name appears should cause rejection of the whole ballot.

Individual Cost Of Social Security Goes Up In 1955

Employe And Employer Will Pay Tax On $600 More Total Earnings Annually

Editor's Note—This is the third of a series of articles designed to detail the changes in the new Social Security bill, signed into law this month by President Eisenhower. Nine out of ten families in the area are affected, and this series is intended to inform our readers of their benefits and coverage under the law.

The amended Social Security Law, which became effective when President Eisenhower signed the bill a few days ago, provides for increased benefits for all persons who become eligible in the future. It also provides for increased costs to employers and employes.

According to James E. Robertson, district manager of the Social Security Administration, beginning with 1955, the amount of covered earnings which may count toward Social Security will be raised from $3,600 to $4,200 in a year. This provision will make it possible, he pointed out, to maintain a closer relationship between the worker's earnings and the benefits he and his family will eventually receive.

Another provision in the new law permits a worker to drop out up to five years of lowest (or no) earnings in the figuring of his average monthly wage on which benefit payments will be based. This so-called "drop-out" applies to all workers becoming eligible for benefit payments after August of this year. Some persons now on the benefit rolls may qualify for the drop-out if they acquire at any time, 1½ years of covered work after June 1953, or if they become eligible after August 1954 to have their benefits refigured on account of additional earnings.

"It is especially significant," Robertson said, "that these 1954 amendments to the Social Security Law preserve the contributory and self-sustaining principles of the old-age and survivors insurance system, as well as the principle that benefit rates are related to the level of the worker's earnings.

"All benefit payments and costs of administering the program are paid out of the special Trust Fund into which go the Social Security taxes paid by employes, employers, and the self-employed.

"The tax rate is now scheduled to reach a maximum of 4 per cent each for employe and employer in 1975. It remains at the present 2 per cent each until 1960, with intermediate steps between 1960 and 1975. Self-employed persons pay at 1½ times the employe rate."

Communications Upset As Fire Damages Cable

Phone, Teletype Service Disrupted

Major long distance communications were interrupted here last night when trunk line cables between this city and Baltimore and Washington went out of service.

C. Walter Haschert, manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company's local exchange, said a fire at Boonsboro—about midway between Hagerstown and Frederick—was given as the cause.

Fire from a burning building severed major cables and service to radio stations, newspapers, state police, industries, and all users of teletypes were affected.

Emergency circuits were thrown into use and a system of circuitous rerouting was eventually worked out. The initial interruption here came at 5:55 p. m., and copy originating in Baltimore and coming in on teletypes in the News office ceased to flow. These Associated Press teletype machines ran blank, and when copy finally was received, it was badly mixed up.

Haschert said Cumberland later was connected with Baltimore and Washington by way of Clarksburg, W. Va., and still later through Bedford and Pittsburgh in an effort to restore service.

Network "Blacked Out"

Direct communications to major cities and major news centers will be out many hours, as the task of restoring main cables is a long and tedious one, Haschert said. Every available lineman and cable-splicer in this area was sent to Boonsboro and had begun the task of sorting and connecting the scores of lines involved.

Major radio network programs were interrupted and some were "blacked out" in this area, due to the cable breakdown.

The fire, however, did not affect The Cumberland News' direct Associated Press wire to New York or its direct International News Service wire to Pittsburgh. The AP Wirephoto network which is routed over still another area remained in service. Thus with these news circuits plus Wirephoto it was possible for The News to provide the latest and most complete world-wide news report available in the entire area.

Newspapers and radio outlets with only one circuit experienced at least partial news "blackouts" at repeated intervals.

Bad Switch Blamed

A faulty switch in a fruit grading machine was blamed for the blaze. The building, only about 30 feet long, was filled with wooden packing crates. Peaches were being graded and packed at the time.

The wooden structure, plus the wooden packing crates, made a very hot fire, which reached the cables and trunk lines just alongside the packing building. Loss was not estimated.

At a late hour, it had been determined by telephone men that 26 major trunk lines were among those affected. It was hoped to have service restored by 8 a. m. today.

Long distance operators reported a heavy backlog of toll calls, and only emergency calls were being rerouted before midnight on an immediate basis. Other calls were being accepted on a delay of at least an hour.

Telephone company officials explain that rerouting over other circuits overloads those circuits to a point where the maximum is reached and delay results.

Judge's Opinion Upholds Ruling Of Md. Board

Man Not Entitled To Compensation

An order upholding th Maryland Employment Security Board in its ruling against Eugene T. Gurtler, 711 Shawnee Avenue, has been signed by Associate Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Gurtler, a furloughed Celanese worker, obtained employment at the Continental Diamond Fibre Company at Newark, Del. After having worked there a short time, Gurtler applied for a 10-day leave of absence beginning January 8 so that he could return to Cumberland to see about his chances of being recalled at Celanese.

When he got back home he found that his grandmother was seriously ill. His wife wrote his supervisor that because of the illness he would not be able to return to work at that time. Nevertheless, Judge Henderson stated, he filed a claim for compensation January 11 while still under leave of absence.

The claim was refused by the claim examiner. However, the referee found that the claimant had a compelling reason for leaving his job. Another reversal came when the Employment Security Board ruled that Gurtler voluntarily left his employment without good cause.

Gurtler was recalled at Celanese March 16. His grandmother had died February 7. Judge Henderson agreed in his opinion that Gurtler had "good reason" for remaining in Cumberland from January 18, when his leave of absence ended, until the death of his grandmother February 7.

Judge Henderson emphasized however that there is a distinction between "good reason" and "good cause" within the meaning of the Unemployment Compensation Law. He observed that he had been unable to find any decided case where the reason for leaving work was illness of someone other than the claimant. He concluded by saying that Gurtler had no absolute right to unemployment benefits.

The main basis for Gurtler's appeal apparently was a letter from the claimant's supervisor which had been admitted into the record, although not sworn to or notarized.

ASC Committee To Discuss Plans For Election

A special five-man Election Board will meet with the Allegany County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee at 2 p. m. today to discuss rules and regulations for the November election of new ASC community and county committees.

Serving on the special board are County Agent Joseph M. Steger, chairman; Martin M. Gordon, conservation aide of the Soil Conservation Service; B. Beeson Snyder, regional representative of the Farmers Home Administration; Floyd Buser, president of the Allegany County Farm Bureau, and Earl A. Creek, master of the Piney Plains Grange.

Meanwhile, the regulation which would have prohibited the re-election of two of the three county ASC members has been rescinded as a result of the passage by Congress of an an amendment introduced by Senator Hubert H. Humphrey, Minnesota Democrat.

The Humphrey Amendment prohibits Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson from directing that county committeemen cannot be re-elected. Earlier, Benson had ruled that any committeeman who has served three successive one-year terms could not be eligible for re-election.

Under Benson's directive two of the three committeemen would have been forced off the committee. They are Albert O'Neal and James H. Weimer, both longtime members. The third member, Joseph Silber, was elected for the first time last year.

Manges To Head County Campaign Of Atty. General

500 Lawyers Honor Edward D. E. Rollins

Earl E. Manges, local attorney, has been named Allegany County chairman of the campaign to elect Edward D. E. Rollins as attorney general of Maryland.

Manges was appointed yesterday at a luncheon given by the Republican Lawyers Club of Maryland, in the Emerson Hotel, Batlimore, to honor Rollins.

Over 500 lawyers from all parts of the state attended the luncheon and heard Attorney General Rollins speak and pledge his efforts toward an active campaign.

Rollins was introduced by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin who praised his attorney general for a "vigorous, fearless and impartial administration."

The affair was the largest testimonial luncheon ever held in Maryland for an attorney general. Rollins was appointed to the office in 1953 by McKeldin and the luncheon was held so that members of the club and their guests might become better acquainted with Rollins.

Former Chief Judge Walter C. Capper, Noel Speir Cook, member of the House of Delegates, and Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason were included in the delegation with Manges from this county. Manges is former chairman of the county's GOP State Central Committee.

Manges said the luncheon had been planned for 400 people originally, but the total exceeded 500 and the affair was held in the hotel's main ballroom.

Franz Polgar, Hypnotist, To Appear Here Tomorrow

Tickets for the presentation of a program tomorrow evening by Dr. Franz Polgar, famed hypnotist, are now available and may be obtained by calling telephone numbers 6768, 300 or 29.

Gus Steese, chairman of the Junior Association of Commerce-sponsored event, said last night members of the Jaycees will deliver tickets to persons who desire to purchase them.

The program is slated at 8 p. m. in Allegany High School. Heralded as "America's greatest one-man show" by the Saturday Evening Post, the Hungarian-born entertainer is a master of telepathy and hypnosis.

The show will consist of three parts. The first portion will be memory demonstrations. Dr. Polgar can meet a hundred people in rapid succession, note their names and then offer to pay $5 to anyone whose name he forgets.

The second part is devoted to mind reading. Dr. Polgar asks for mental flashes from the audience, then tells them what they are thinking.

The finale and featured portion of the show is devoted to hypnotism, Dr. Polgar's favorite and most entertaining part of the show.

Proceeds of the program, Steese added, will be used for community projects by the Jaycees. Recently the organization purchased and presented a "Rockette" to Memorial Hospital which is used to rock newborn babies to help them draw their first breath and survive.

Bittinger Gets Modern Dial Phone Service

Work on the new telephone system for the Bittinger area has been completed and service is to be cut in to all the 85 subscribers in a special ceremony at 9 a. m. today, according to Walter Haschert, manager of the local telephone exchange.

The new system is the result of the reconstruction, by the C & P Telephone Company, of the old Bittinger Mutual Company, following a disastrous ice and sleet storm a couple of years ago.

The old company was practically wiped out, and C&P, at a cost of $102,000 installed 1,000 new poles, new cables and new telephones for 85 subscribers. The system is considered among the most modern in Western Maryland and is complete with dial equipment, Haschert said.

Company officials, along with officials of the old Mutual Company and officials of nearby Grantsville, have been invited to participate in the "cutting-in" ceremony. Among them will be, besides Haschert, W. E. Morrell, vice president of the telephone company; Thomas W. Dwyer, district commercial manager of Hagerstown; Frank W. Carey, division commercial manager of Baltimore who has charge of all out-state operations; and Nelson Orndorff, former president of the old Mutual Company.

Polling Officials Get Instruction On Their Duties

Election Board Conducts 'School'

"It can happen here but if you are all careful in fulfilling your duties as you should be there will be no disputes concerning ballots cast in the November 2 general election," said William A. Wilson, chairman of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors, in calling attention to arguments which occurred in Talbott and Queen Anne's counties as a result of honest but unnecessary mistakes made by polling officials.

These mistakes were brought to light when George P. Mahoney, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for governor, demanded recounts in the two Eastern Shore counties.

Wilson's remarks were made last night in the large courtroom at the Court House as the second of six "schools" for county polling officials got under way.

More Sessions Planned

Another will be held at the same place at 7:30 tonight. Subsequent sessions are scheduled at Bruce High School in Westernport Friday night, at Central Elementary School in Lonaconing next Wednesday and at the Frostburg Fire Hall Thursday, September 16. Last night 99, or 91.6 per cent, of the 108 expected to attend were present for the special instruction.

Most polling officials learn their duties by a trial-and-error method, the board chairman said. That's why the school idea was advanced as the best way of eliminating needless errors.

Wilson told the group that the board, in checking poll books, had discovered that persons registered as independents had voted in primary elections. They also have found that in some few cases Democrats have been given Republican primary ballots and Republicans have gotten Democratic ballots, contrary to law.

Procedures Explained

Joining with Wilson in instructing the group were the other board members, Victor M. Hebb and Matthew J. Mullaney; John M. Robb, attorney to the board, and Irvin J. Neat, one of the board's registrars.

At the close of the 90-minute session last night, nine-pages of mimeographed instructions to election judges were distributed to all those present for future study.

Most of the regulations are detailed in nature and are primarily of interest only to those who must work at the 91 polling places around the county.

Among the regulations of general interest is one that pertains to electioneering.

"No person is permitted to canvass or electioneer in the poll room or within 100 feet thereof, nor can anyone hold any tickets or facsimile of tickets or papers purporting to be tickets, either within the polling room or within 100 feet thereof. Any person so offending shall be fined not less than $50 nor more than $500, or imprisoned in jail not exceeding 60 days, or both. . . ."

Regulations Strict

"After receiving his ballot the voter at once proceeds alone to one of the booths and there prepares his ballot by marking it in the proper manner. Not more than one voter shall be allowed to enter any one booth at the same time. He cannot stay in the booth more than seven minutes, provided any other voters are waiting to vote. . . ."

There also is a special section of instructions concerning what ballots shall be rejected. If a voter has marked more names than there are persons to be elected to an office, the ballot is invalidated only so far as the particular group of candidates as to which the error occurred is concerned. However, any mark on the ballot which is entirely outside of any square or any mark in a square before which no name appears should cause rejection of the whole ballot.

Individual Cost Of Social Security Goes Up In 1955

Employe And Employer Will Pay Tax On $600 More Total Earnings Annually

Editor's Note—This is the third of a series of articles designed to detail the changes in the new Social Security bill, signed into law this month by President Eisenhower. Nine out of ten families in the area are affected, and this series is intended to inform our readers of their benefits and coverage under the law.

The amended Social Security Law, which became effective when President Eisenhower signed the bill a few days ago, provides for increased benefits for all persons who become eligible in the future. It also provides for increased costs to employers and employes.

According to James E. Robertson, district manager of the Social Security Administration, beginning with 1955, the amount of covered earnings which may count toward Social Security will be raised from $3,600 to $4,200 in a year. This provision will make it possible, he pointed out, to maintain a closer relationship between the worker's earnings and the benefits he and his family will eventually receive.

Another provision in the new law permits a worker to drop out up to five years of lowest (or no) earnings in the figuring of his average monthly wage on which benefit payments will be based. This so-called "drop-out" applies to all workers becoming eligible for benefit payments after August of this year. Some persons now on the benefit rolls may qualify for the drop-out if they acquire at any time, 1½ years of covered work after June 1953, or if they become eligible after August 1954 to have their benefits refigured on account of additional earnings.

"It is especially significant," Robertson said, "that these 1954 amendments to the Social Security Law preserve the contributory and self-sustaining principles of the old-age and survivors insurance system, as well as the principle that benefit rates are related to the level of the worker's earnings.

"All benefit payments and costs of administering the program are paid out of the special Trust Fund into which go the Social Security taxes paid by employes, employers, and the self-employed.

"The tax rate is now scheduled to reach a maximum of 4 per cent each for employe and employer in 1975. It remains at the present 2 per cent each until 1960, with intermediate steps between 1960 and 1975. Self-employed persons pay at 1½ times the employe rate."
